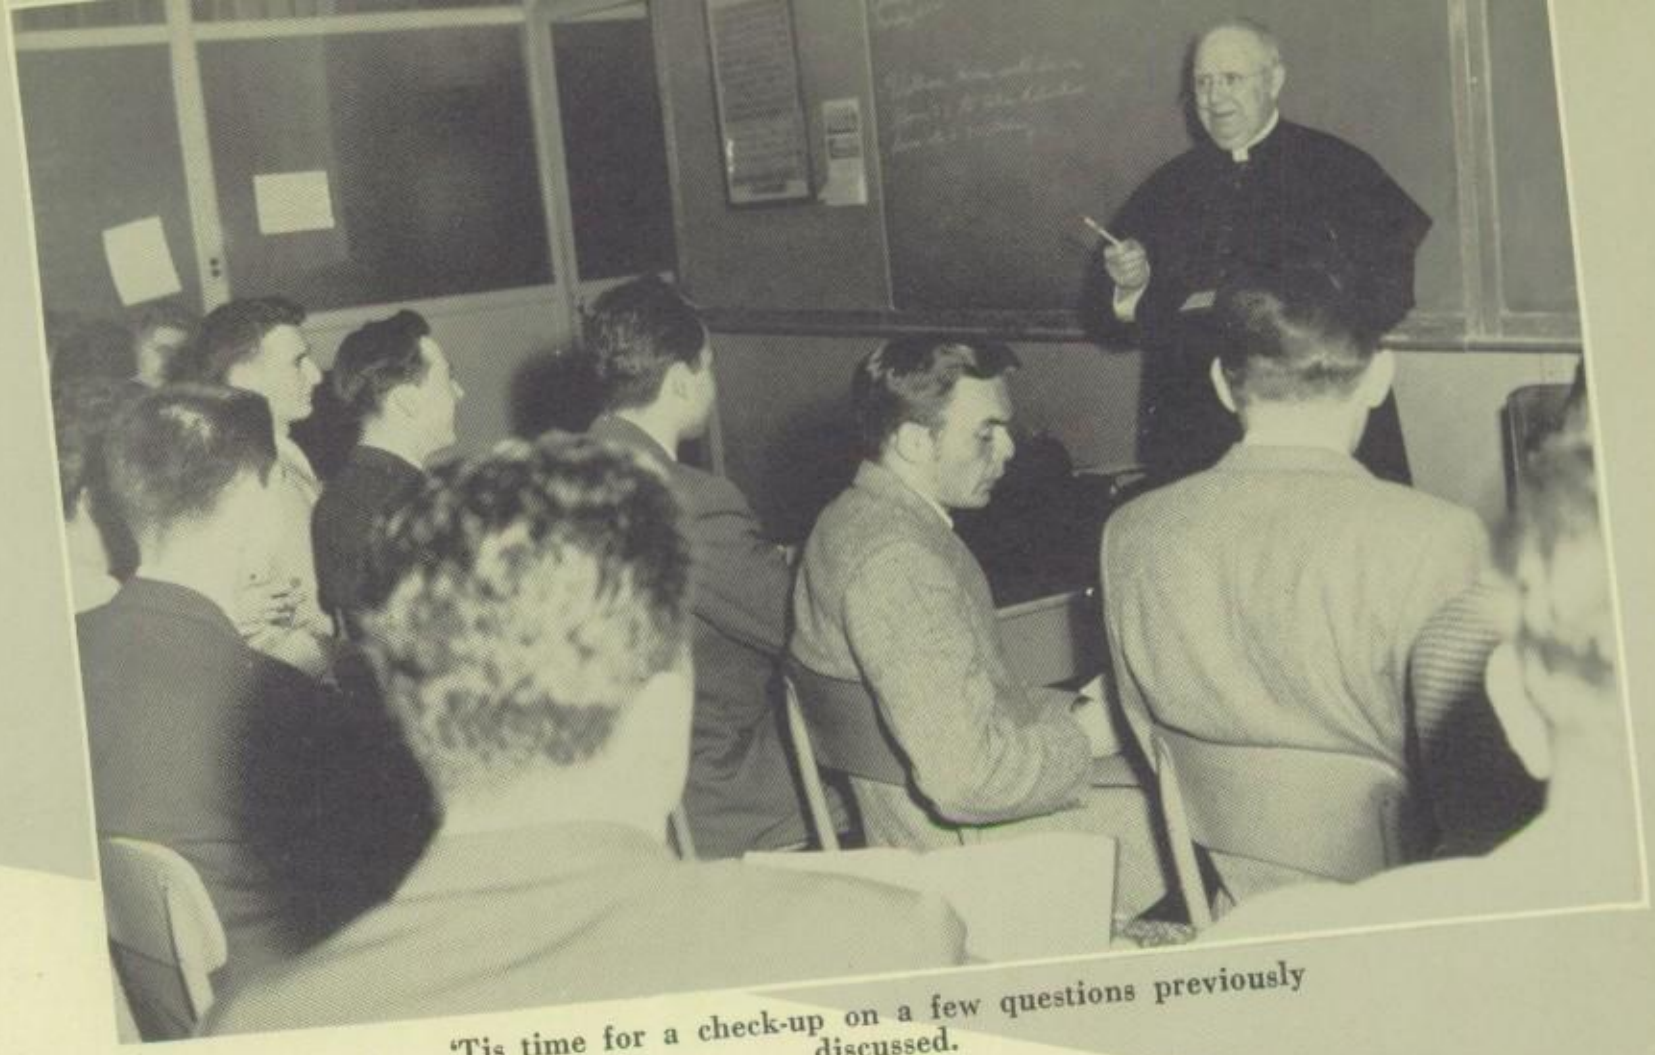
Seniors in a Religion Class are "snapped" before a session begins.

Senior Classes in Religion

Monsignor gives an eight weeks' Course annually to the Seniors, dealing with proofs concerning the True Church of Christ.

Each student presents reactions to this course in the form of a thesis; the best paper submitted is awarded a Papal Gold Medal and a copy of the Holy Bible. The award is given at Graduation Exercises.

Mary Lou Clifton and Kathleen Browne compare the succession of the Popes of the Roman Catholic Church to the Presidents of the United States.



'Tis time for a check-up on a few questions previously discussed.

It's very easy to get to any part of the Old World when Monsignor's our guide.

Vitally interested in their Catholic predecessors the martyrs, these senior boys listen intently as Robert Petrella reads a passage from Monsignor's book, "Roma, Ancient, Subterranean, and Modern Rome."

NEW HIGH SCHOOL CAMPAIGN BEGINS

The campaign for the new High School building to be constructed on Rutherford Place was formally opened on Sunday, January 30, when the pastor, Rt. Rev. Msgr. Peter B. O'Connor, announced the plans at all the Masses.

The new building with its twenty-four classrooms, Domestic Science, Manual Training, Science and other departments, is to accommodate one thousand students. The present grade school annex will be the north wing of the new high school building, and attached to the new building by enclosed lobbies. In the main building now existing will be housed the entire grammar school department. The main features in the new building include biology, chemistry, and physics laboratories, a spacious auditorium-gymnasium capable of seating eight hundred persons, medical room, cafeteria, kitchen and a refreshment bar.

Bids for the building will be announced within the next few weeks, and ground broken for the building work soon after that.

Retreat

September, 1954

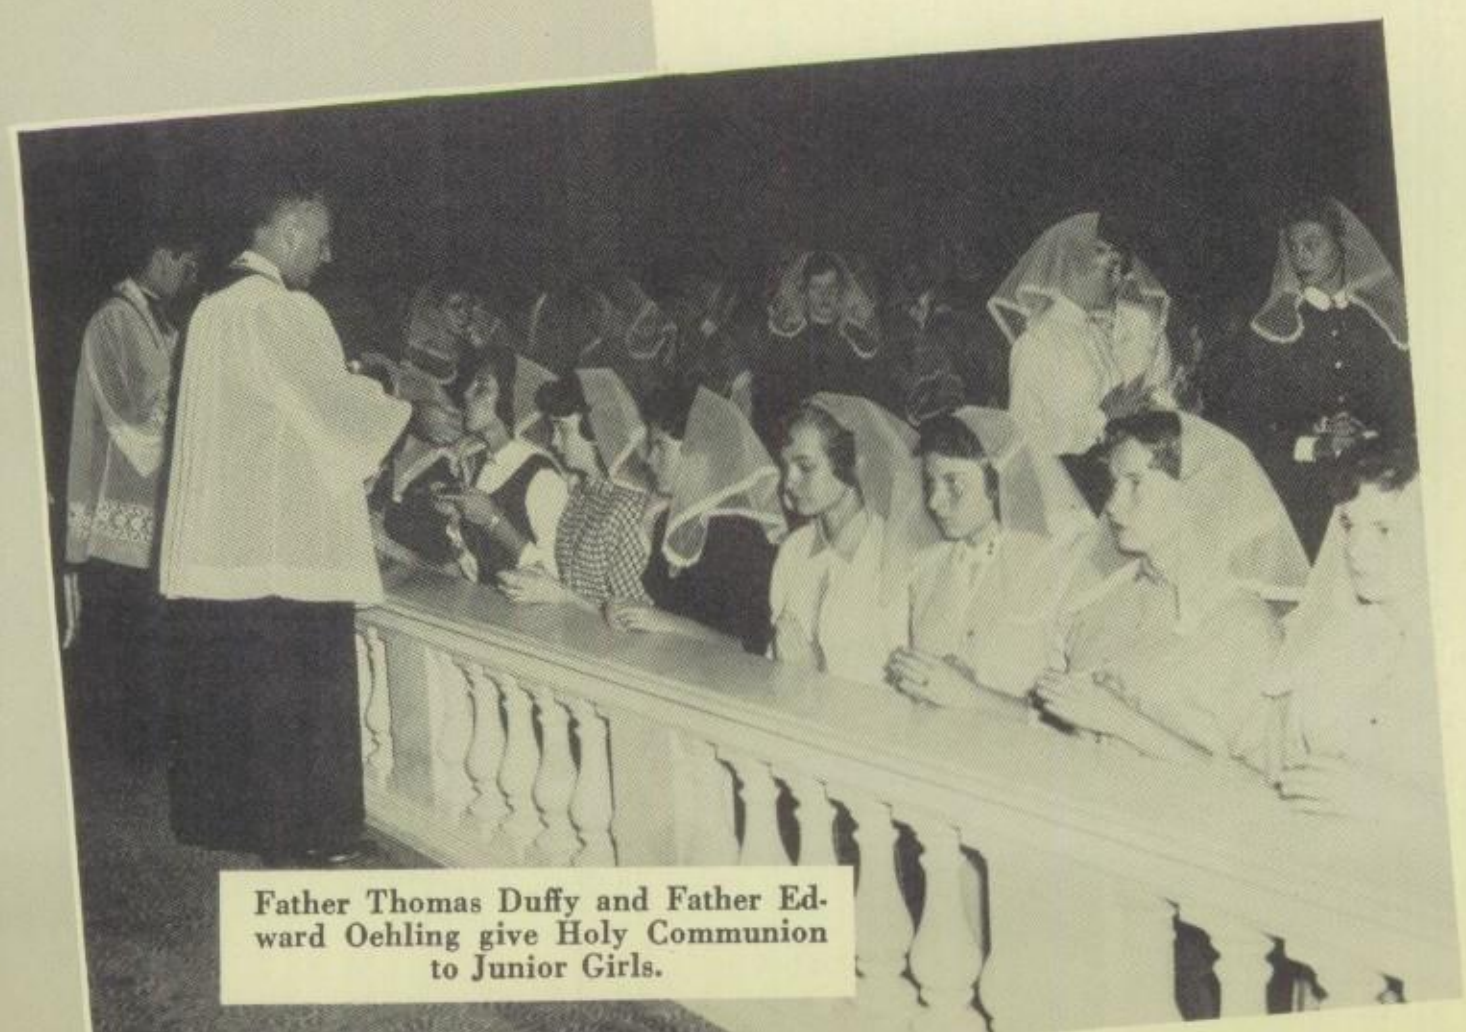
Monsignor and his servers: Seniors, David Newton and Frank Nash, enter the sanctuary for the opening Mass of Retreat.

The annual retreat this year was conducted by Monsignor O'Connor.

Monsignor opened each conference with a prayer asking God for assistance and guidance. Monsignor covered a great many subjects. Some of the topics which he discussed were, "Our state in life," "Truth," "Making a good confession and communion," and "The need for penance." During the talks Monsignor quoted frequently from Holy Scripture to prove his points, and used very vivid descriptions to enliven the imaginations of his listeners.

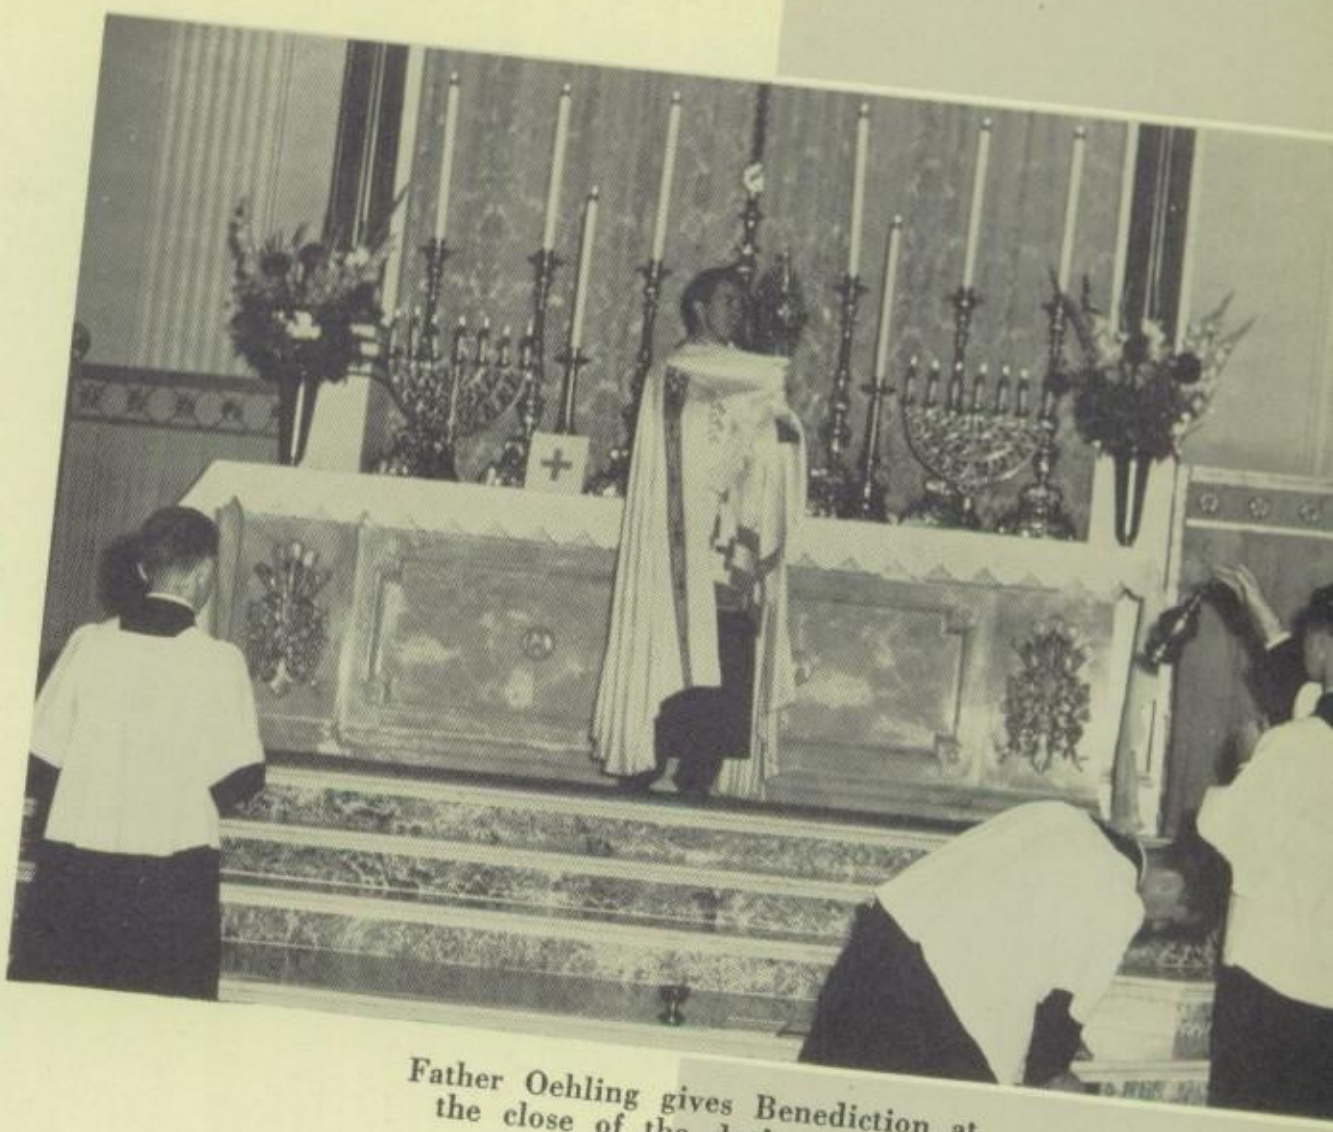
The retreat was brought to a successful close with general Communion on Friday morning, with the Papal Blessing given by Monsignor, and with Holy Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

Senior Boys receive Holy Communion from Monsignor.



Father Thomas Duffy and Father Edward Oehling give Holy Communion to Junior Girls.

Juniors file in for the First Retreat Conference.



Father Oehling gives Benediction at the close of the day's exercises.

The Papal Blessing is given to all the Retreatants.

Charles De Luca and Laura Babinski lead Seniors to their last School-day Retreat.

Sodality

Freshman lead off for enrollment in Our Lady's Sodality.

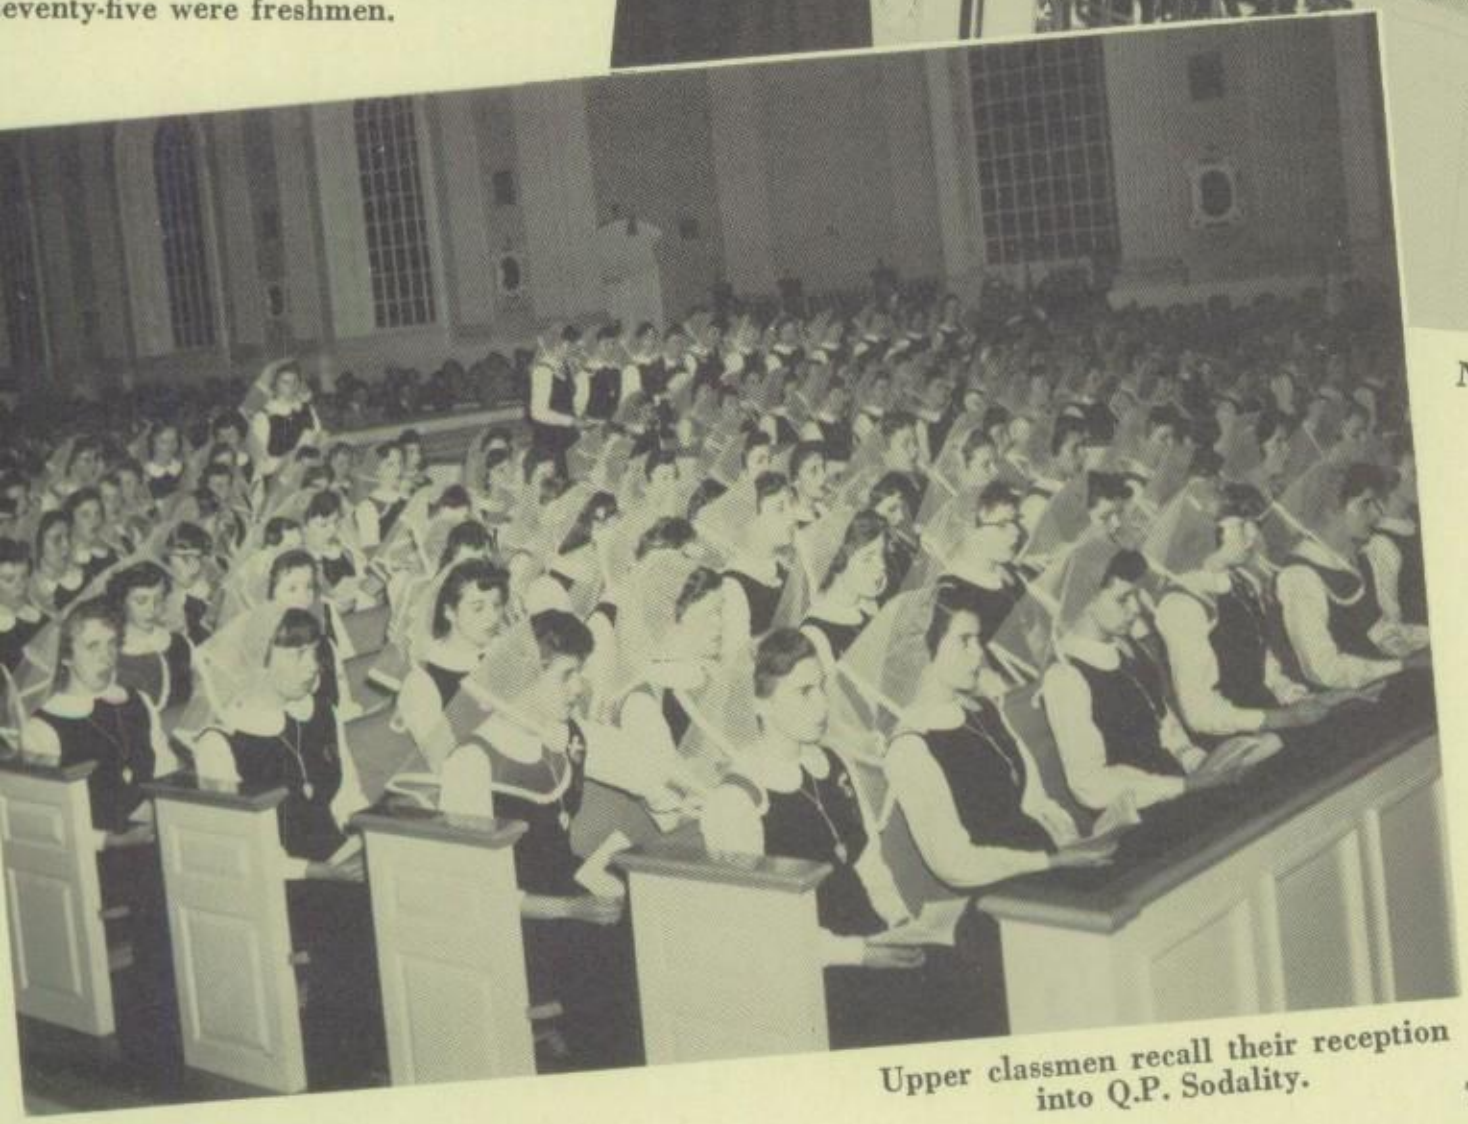
With great reverence these students await their medals.

Rheinhold Heilman assists Mo signor in the distribution medals.

One hundred ninety-one candidates were received into the Sodality of the Blessed Virgin at the ceremony which was held in Church on Friday, October 15.

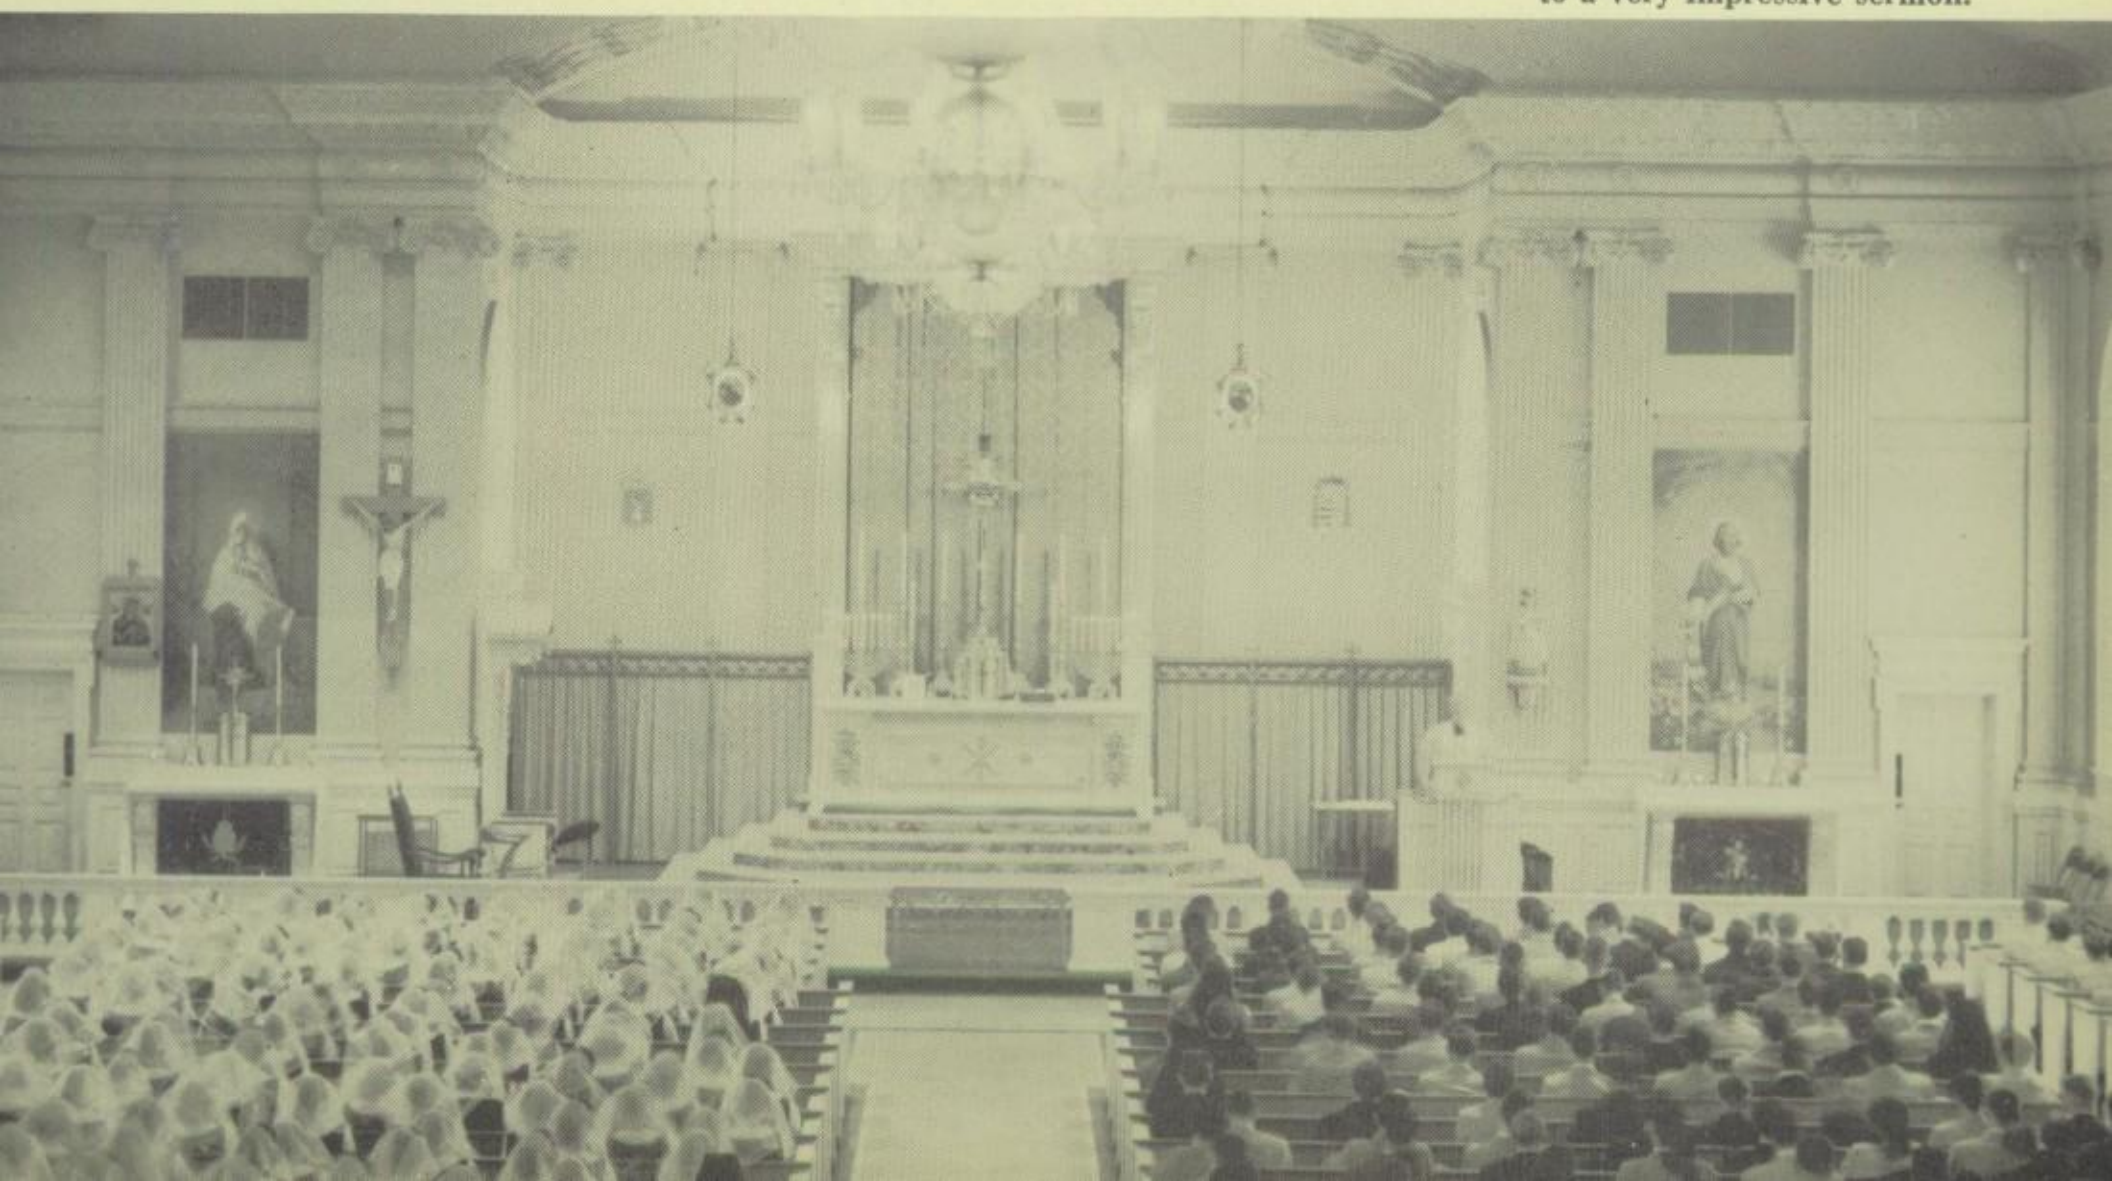
Among those received into the Sodality, there were two seniors—Frank Belmont and Marylou Campbell; three juniors—Thomas Farrell, Harold Mosciatello, and Christine Rosser; ten sophomores—Carol Boyle, Louis Farabaugh, Donald MacEoin, Thomas Barrett, Vincent Pecanello, John Sullivan, Stephen Mastico, Barbara Vernovage, Joan Andrea Walsh, and Rita Padavano. The remaining one hundred seventy-five were freshmen.

New Sodalists repeat their pledge.



Upper classmen recall their reception into Q.P. Sodality.

The Student Body listens attentively to a very impressive sermon.



Senior Assembly

Welcome to Freshmen

The Senior Class held its annual assembly to welcome the new freshmen, on Friday, October 29.

The program opened with the Presentation of the Colors, the Salute to the Flag, and the "National Anthem." John Fisher, in the absence of the class President, David Newton, gave the welcoming address.

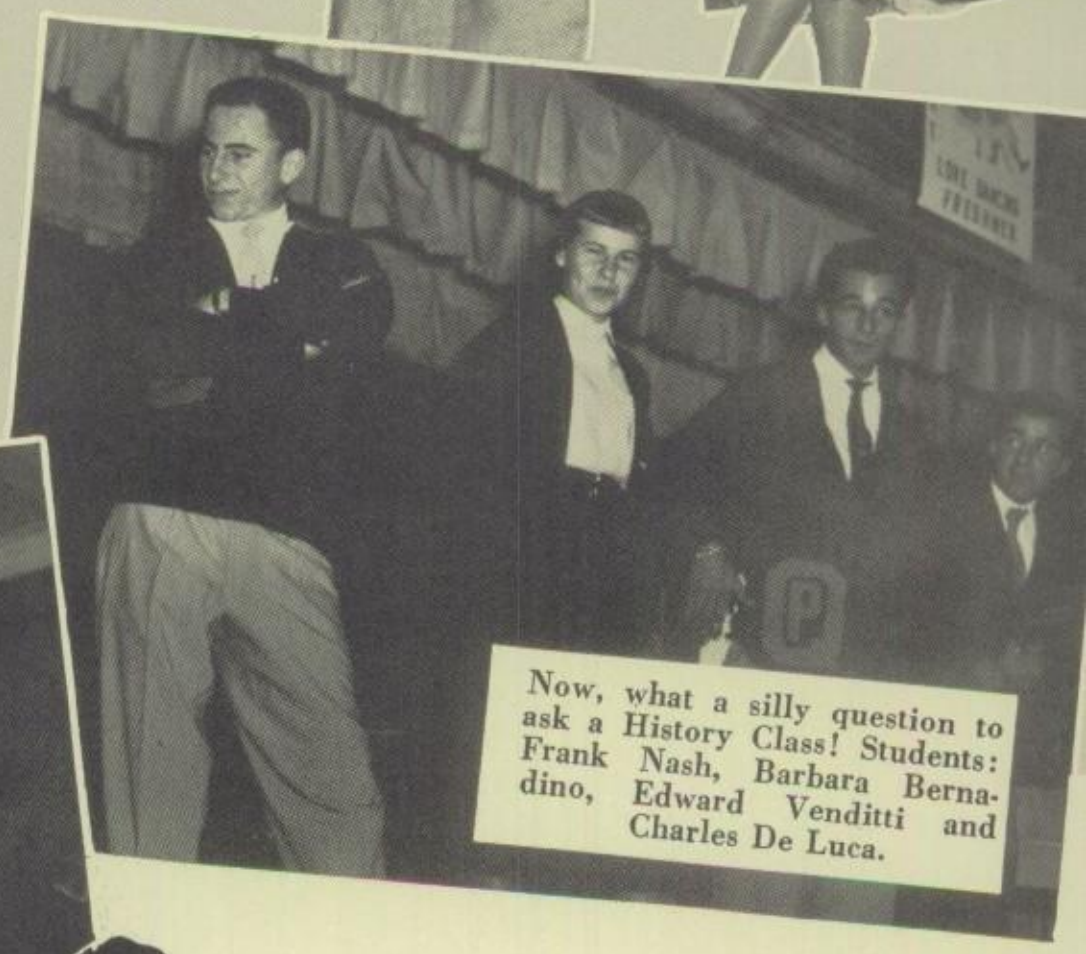
Next came the Song of Welcome followed by the Pantomime "Miss Iva Neway's School." Miss Neway, Joan Verrier, gave us a few different ideas on school teachers while her students Barbara Bernadino, Dolores Carey, Frank Nash, Edward Venditti and Charles DeLuca, demonstrated the correct way in which lessons should be done. This amusing pantomime, narrated by Rosemary Lamprecht, held the audience from beginning to end.

Between the pantomime and the One-Act Play the senior girls impersonated Indian Squaws and sang "A Uni" much to everyone's delight. Then came the play "Thanks Awfully."

It was the story of a sister of a famous painter who forces him by pleading, shouting, and tears to attend her bridge club meeting to meet the girls. Dick, the brother, played by David Burke, in order to make it more interesting, decides to make a bet with his sister Dot (Mary Jane Pierz). The bet was that he is to say only "Thanks Awfully" all evening. The predicaments this bet got him into all night was the plot of the play. The audience by their applause indicated that the skit was well enjoyed.

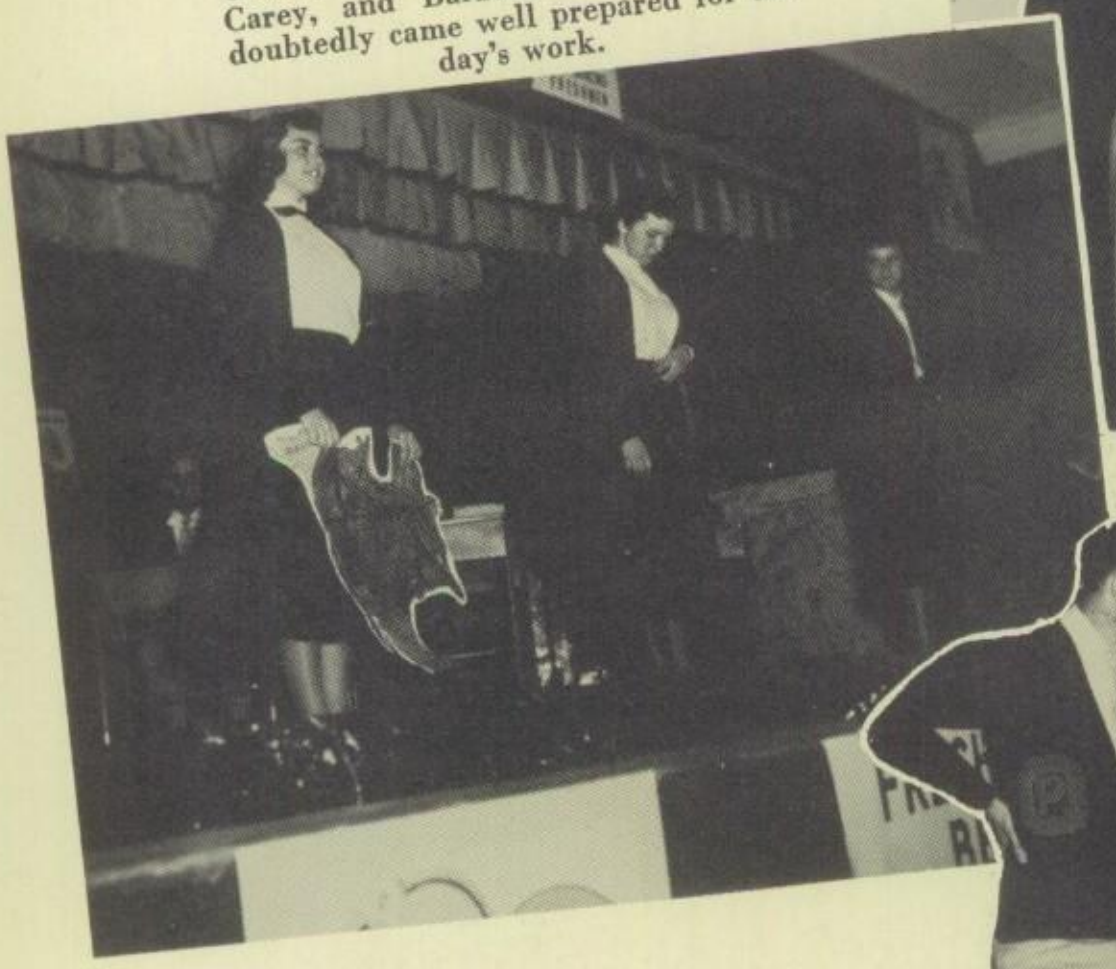
The very beautiful "Tableau of Our Blessed Mother" brought the assembly to a close to the strains of the "Ave Maria."

Dick (David Burke) simply refuses to attend his sister Dot's (Mary Jane Pierz's) card party.



Now, what a silly question to ask a History Class! Students: Frank Nash, Barbara Bernadino, Edward Venditti and Charles De Luca.

Geologists Frances Cosgrove, Dolores Carey, and Barbara Bernadino undoubtedly came well prepared for the day's work.

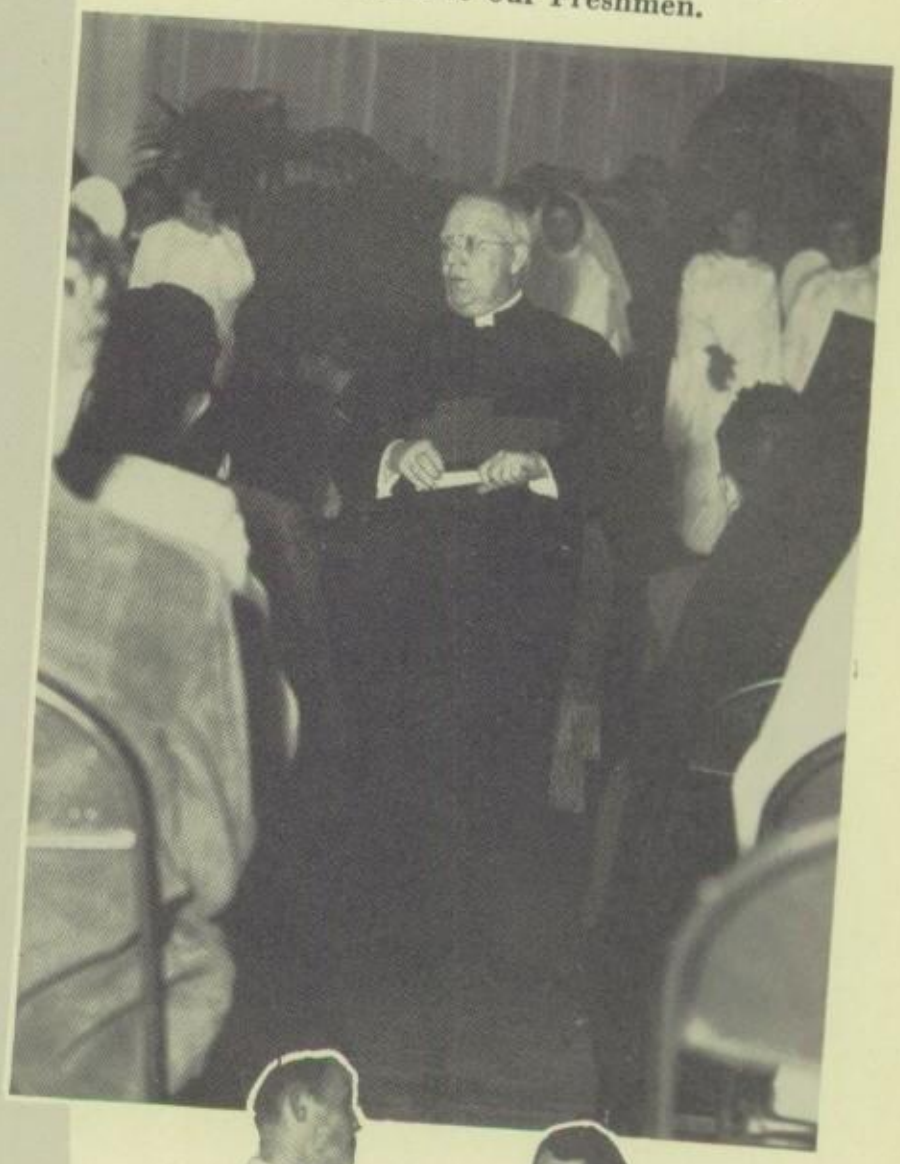


Eddie turned "defeat to victory" while, Charlie "saved the day" in a History project.

Miss Neway (Joan Verrier) was overwhelmed by Jack's (Frank Nash's) mathematical calculations.

"Oh, Mr. Montague, I think you're so, so intelligent, so, so divine, you're just wonderful!"

Monsignor praises Seniors' splendid welcome to our Freshmen.



Nannette (Ann Brady) seems to have Dick quite cornered with her witty questions.

A beautiful close to a wonderful night's entertainment. (Lillian Ala as Our Blessed Lady in the tableaux).

Student Council

Proudly we hail . . . our glee club.

JUNIORS ENTERTAIN AT ASSEMBLY; CHRISTMAS CAROL IS SUCCESSFUL

At the Christmas entertainment held December 19, the "Birds' Christmas Carol" was the main feature on the program, supported by the singing of carolers of the junior class, and several dance performances.

In the "Birds' Christmas Carol," Maureen Duff took the part of CAROL; George Stasko, that of MR. BIRD; Eileen Gelshen, MRS. BIRD; James Norton, JACK BIRD; and Catharine Schwarz, ELFRIDA CLIFFORD. The Ruggles family were portrayed by Maureen O'Neil as MRS. RUGGLES; Jo-Ann Kutt as SARAH MAUD; Anthony Montesano as LARRY; Charles Lutkus, CLEMENT; Samuel Ciresi, CORNELIUS; Rosemary Brosnan, KITTY; Marilyn Wilson, PEORIA; James Lain, PETER; Maureen McBride, Jacqueline Verniero, Catherine Boyle, Barbara Dassinger ANGELS.

Dance Numbers

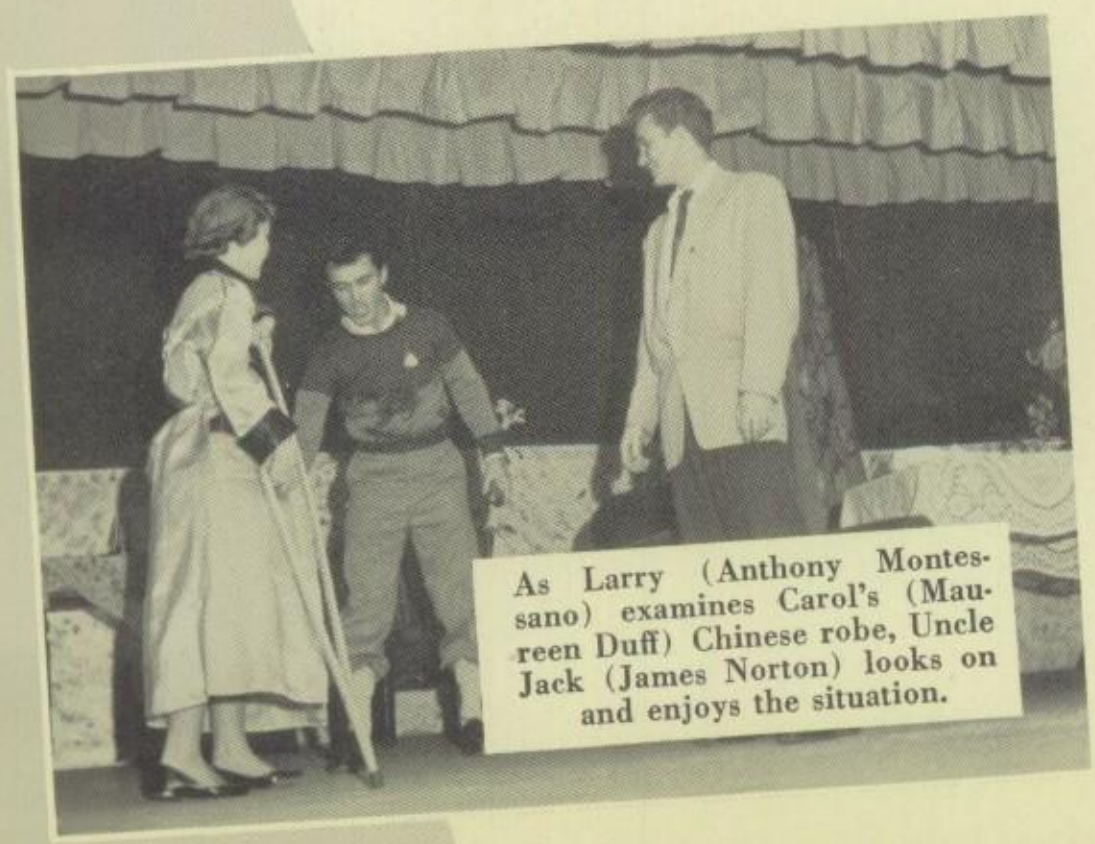
The two dance features were taught by Joan Verrier and Carol Lindeman; the first was an accomplished act by Elaine Shields, Patricia Rodemer, Barbara Dietz, Patricia Rummell, Catherine McGowan, Annette Hirsch, Joan Martinsen, Joyce Stickle, Marilyn Zambella, Marilyn Wilson, Dolores Nappa and Carol Panchick. The other, a novel box dance, was performed by Jane Delaney, Eileen Powers, Maureen Hahn, Barbara Fitzpatrick, Lydia Turonis, Jackie Verniero, Mary Lou Russell, Bernice McGrath, Marilyn Thornton.

Singing Excellent

Harmonizing with Patricia Frotton in the popular "There's No Place Like Home for the Holidays" were Maureen O'Neil and Rosemary Brosnan in a very fine rendition. Anthony Jennette pleased the audience with his popular accordion selections.

The program closed with the beautiful Nativity tableau, in which Maureen McBride took the part of the Blessed Virgin, Richard Smith, that of St. Joseph.

Frosty (E. Shields) attracts the attention of her admirers in "Marshmallow World."



As Larry (Anthony Montesano) examines Carol's (Maureen Duff) Chinese robe, Uncle Jack (James Norton) looks on and enjoys the situation.

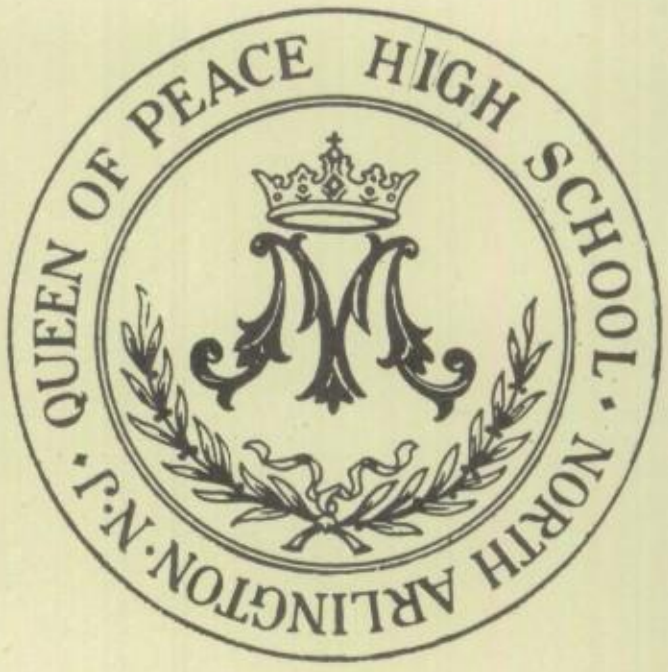
Uncle Jack and Nurse (Cath. Schwarz) wind the wrappings on Larry (Anthony Montessano) as Carol Bird watches.

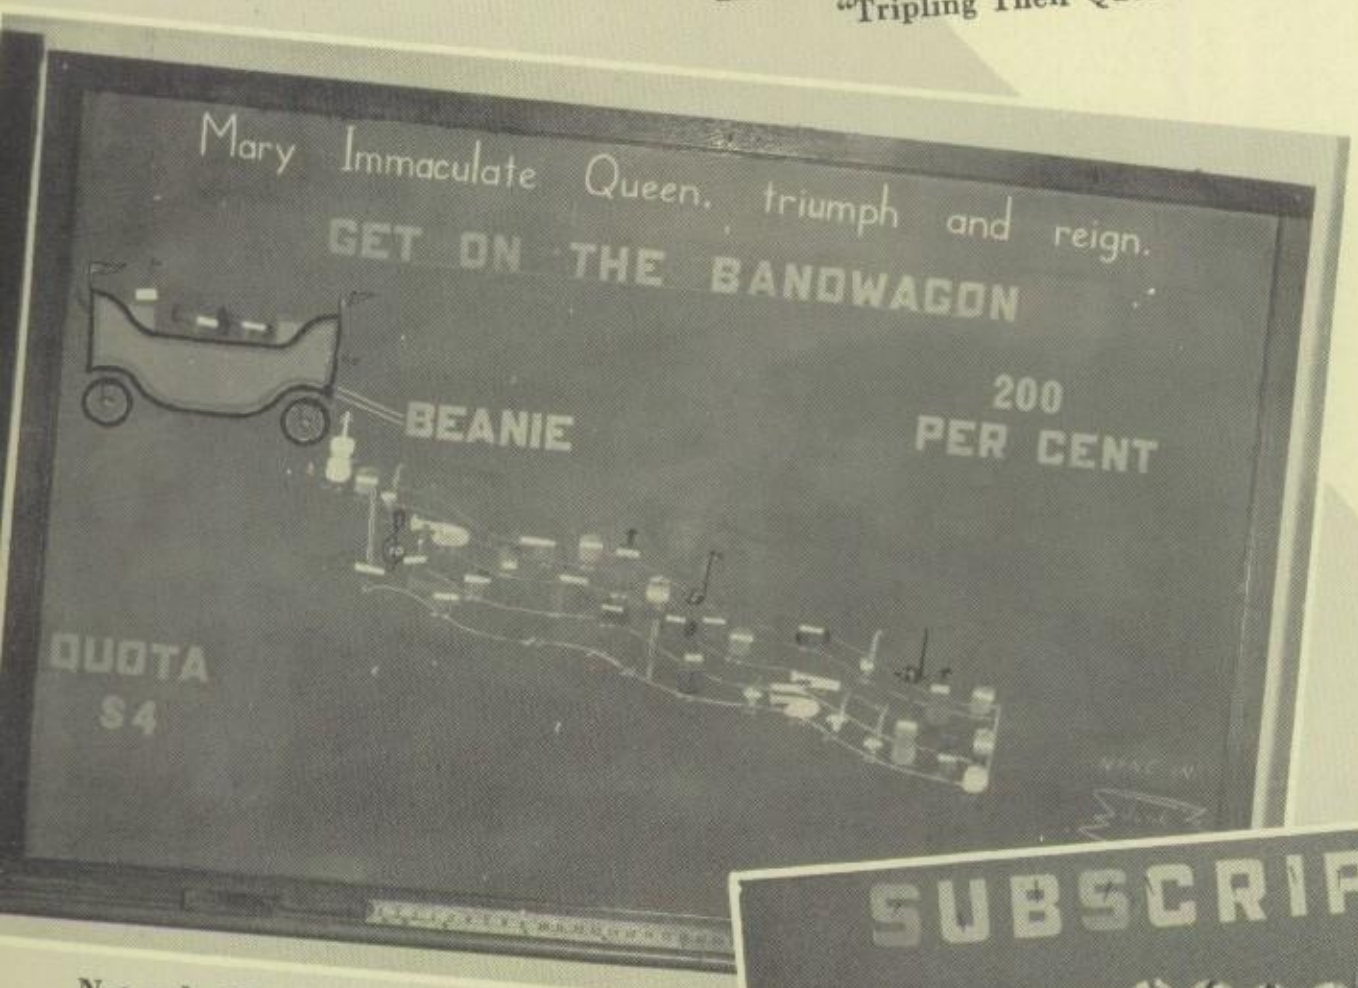
All the fish of 12A succeeded in climbing the undersea mountain range to the tune of: "Tripling Their Quota".

The Exterior Coat of Arms



Coat of Arms

The exterior Coat of Arms is to be a replica of the School seal. In the center of the seal is the letter M. Over it is a crown topped off with a small cross; below are two olive branches. The M is the symbol for Mary, the Mother of God and our Mother. The crown above it signifies that Mary is Queen of heaven, earth, and all things. The cross shows that her "Queenship" is over the spiritual lives of her children. The olive branches stand for Peace . . . the peace which Mary has hoped to bring into the world through the intercession of her Divine Son.



Not only did 12B get on the Bandwagon, but they "doubled their quota".

Magazine Drive

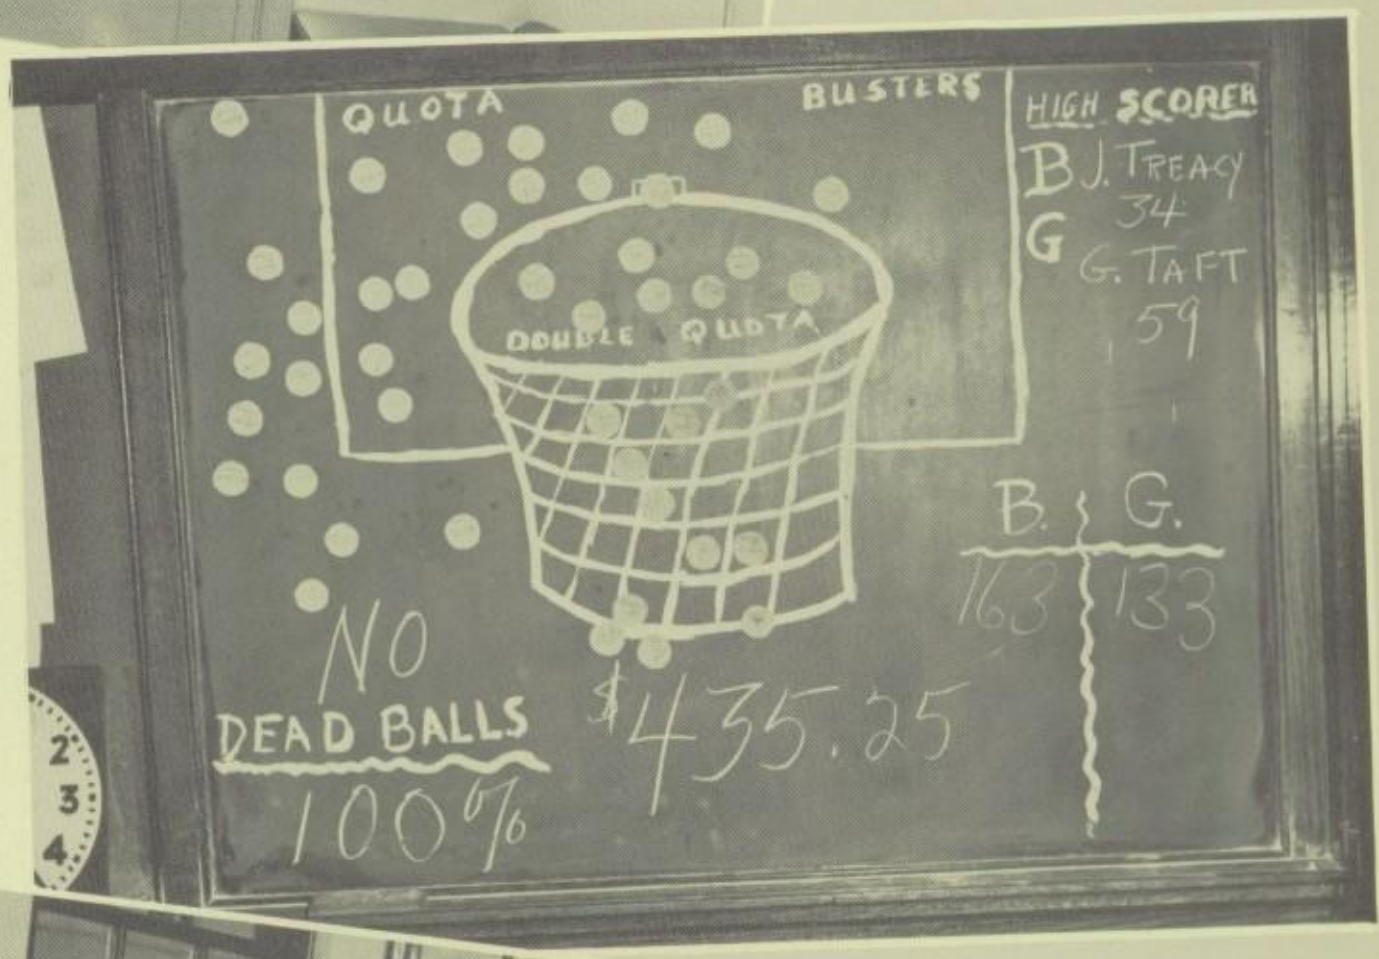
By a mighty Magazine Drive, students of Queen of Peace School gained $3,000, which sum was given to Monsignor to pay for the coat of arms on the exterior of the new Queen of Peace High School.

Ten top-salesmen of the Drive were: (High School): John Fischer, John O'Neill, Charles De Luca, Lorraine Chobanian, Genevieve Taft. (Grade School): Richard Pederson, William Nemzek, Barbara Catanzara, Nicholas Connelly, Richard Silkowski.

Section 12C reached their quota quite musically by a delightful "Subscription Swan Song".

Section 9C are Freshmen who believe in "double or nothing".

No dead balls in 9C.
Their court was red hot!



QUEEN OF PEACE HIGH SCHOOL SONG

Where can you find a better school —
Travel where'er you may,
For we are trained in brain and brawn—
Trained in the only way.

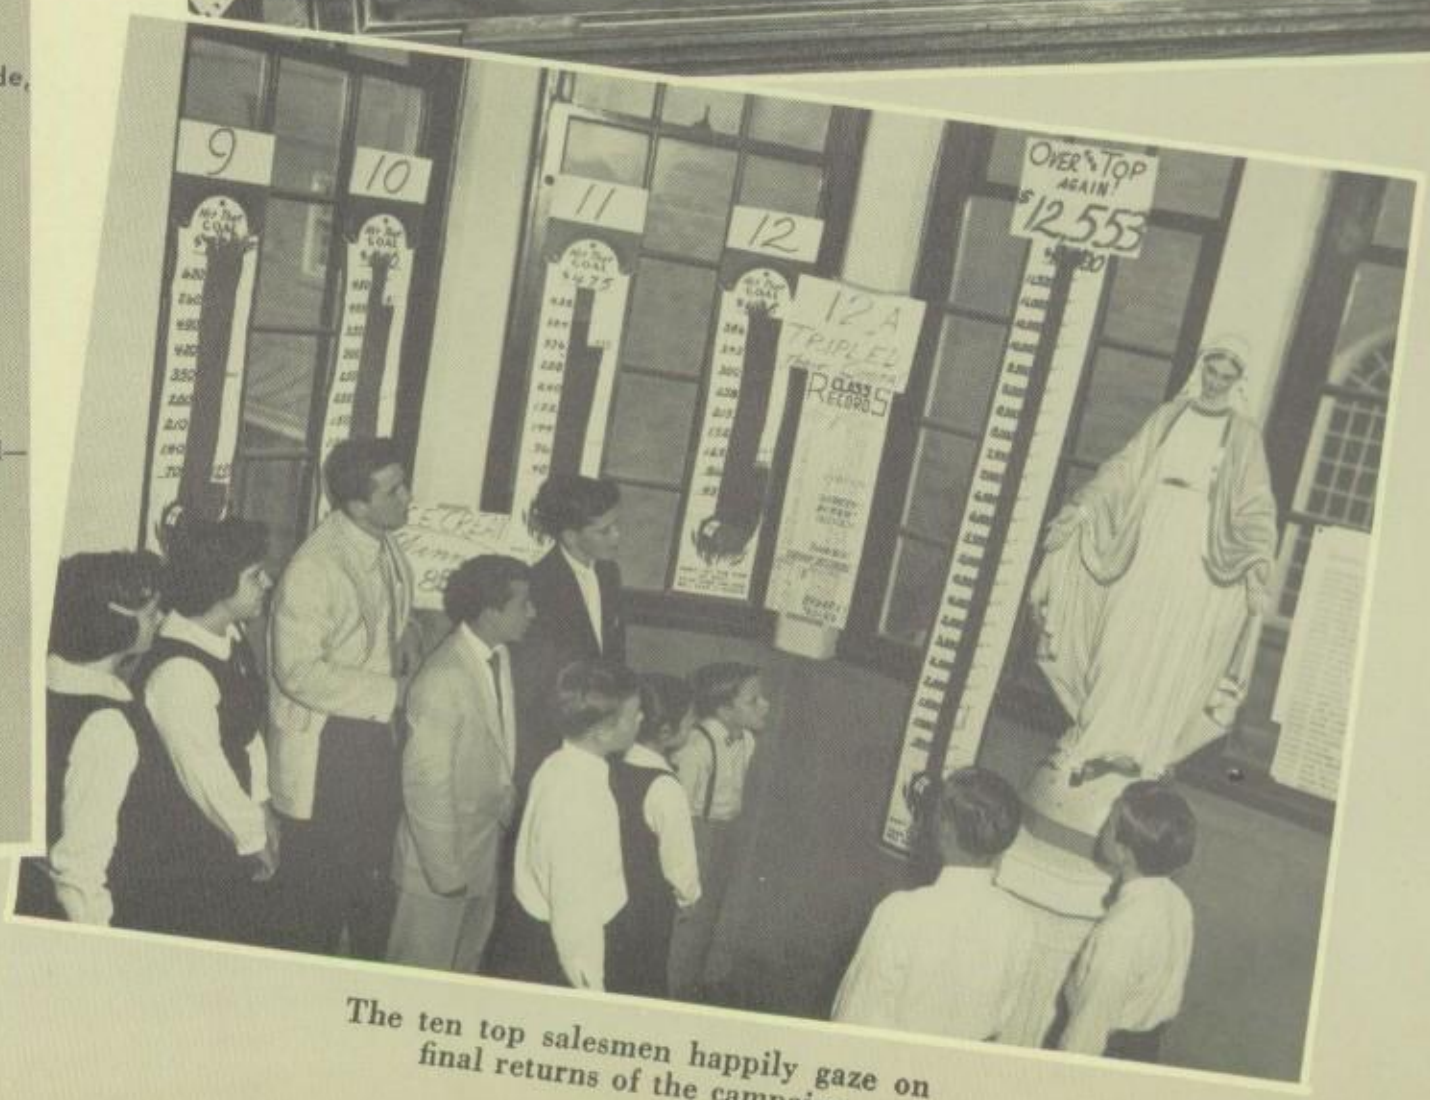
Chorus—

Now we are proud of Queen of Peace,
Alma Mater dear.
Proud to let the world know—
Proud with never a fear.
Let us prove to you our worth;
Watch us climb to fame.
Example—that's the way we'll guide,
Those that still remain.

Give us a task or give us play—
Ask what success you will,
Sons and daughters of Queen of Peace—
'Tis ours but to fulfill.

With hearts of steel we forge ahead—
An honest race to run,
A step ahead each day will bring—
Life's work is now begun.

From all who wish us joy this day—
A little gift we ask.
A prayer well said to Queen of Peace—
May each do well his task.



The ten top salesmen happily gaze on final returns of the campaign.

Christmas

No,—not Ann Southern—but "Our Secretary" also has caught the Christmas Spirit!

Christmas in 11C was graced by the visit of Santa's daughter (J. Verniero). J. Tingoli, W. Ward, and M. Thornton are striving to make her feel at home.

A gala time was had by 9B Freshmen at their Christmas party.

Freshmen interrupt Christmas Party to pose for pictures.

Appearances indicate that a good time was had by 9C Freshmen at Christmas party.

Not a doubt that Anne Marie Delio and her classmates still believe in good old Santa.

These Sophomores strike a pose which abounds in gay Christmas Spirit. Christmas vacation might be their stimulus.

10C shows the joy that's "inside Q.P." at Christmas.

Party, 1954

Jingle Bells! Jingle Bells! Laughing all the way! These merry faces express their enjoyment of a Sophomore Christmas Party.

What did you get? I gotta . . .

"Tis the season to be jolly" and 9D takes advantage of it with couples Joann Turonis and John Thievon, William Speidel and Eileen Walsh, Elizabeth Walstrom and Harry Schwarz leading the way.

Gals of 12A look puzzled as they unwrap those packages!

No lack of Christmas cheer in 11B!

The "last tree" at Q. of P. for these girls. Let's make it special —some seem sad—some not so sad.

Aren't you ashamed, Charles Lutkus, to deceive those innocent children?

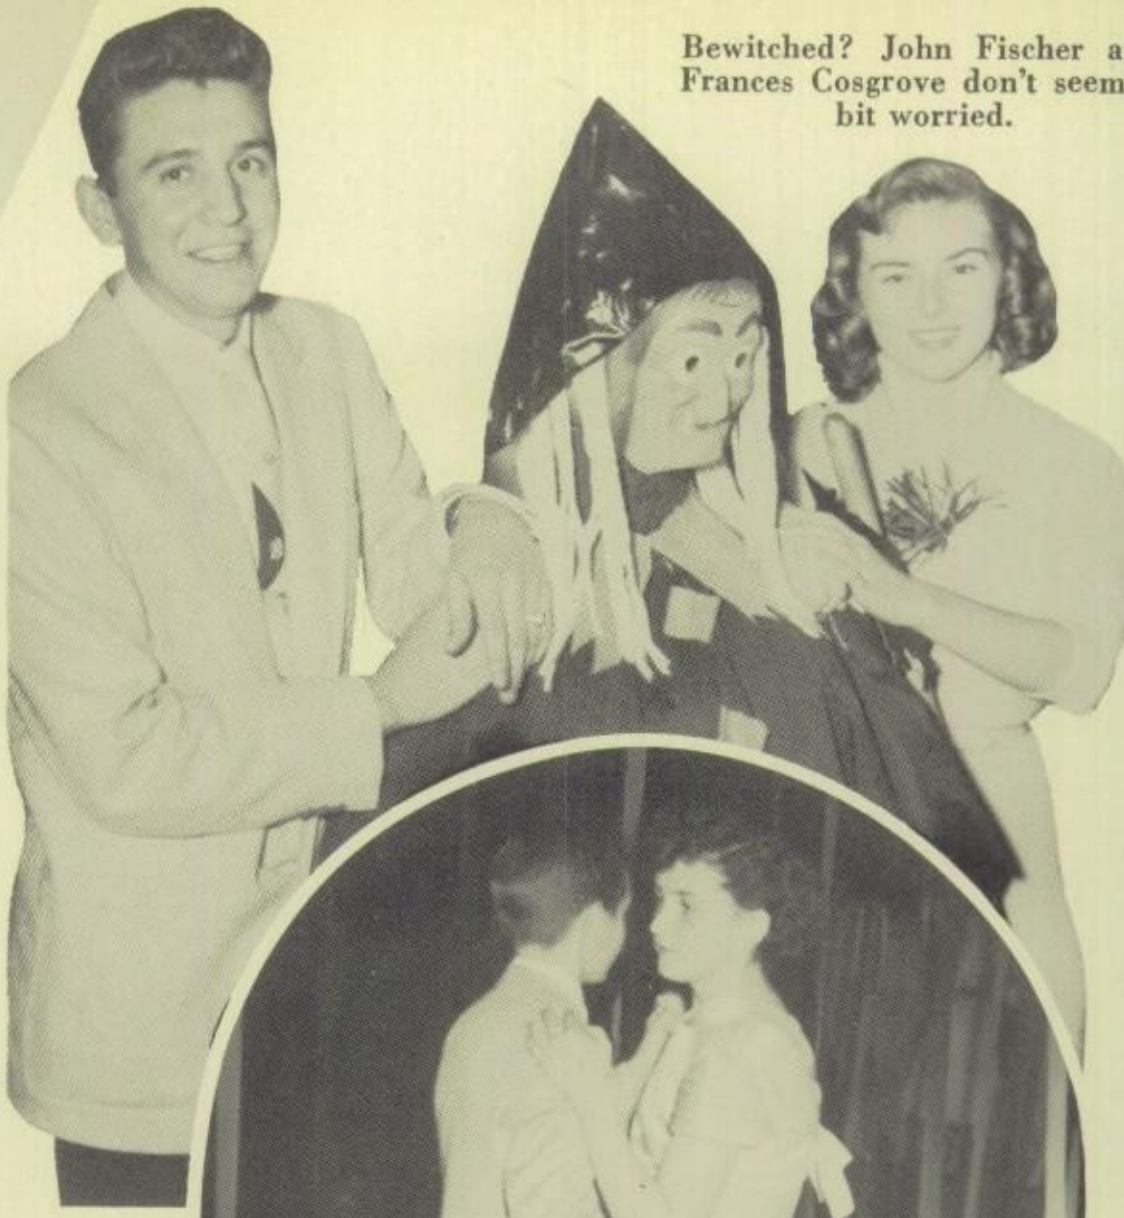
Anita Nelson and Ruth Ann Wehner play hostesses at the Christmas Party.

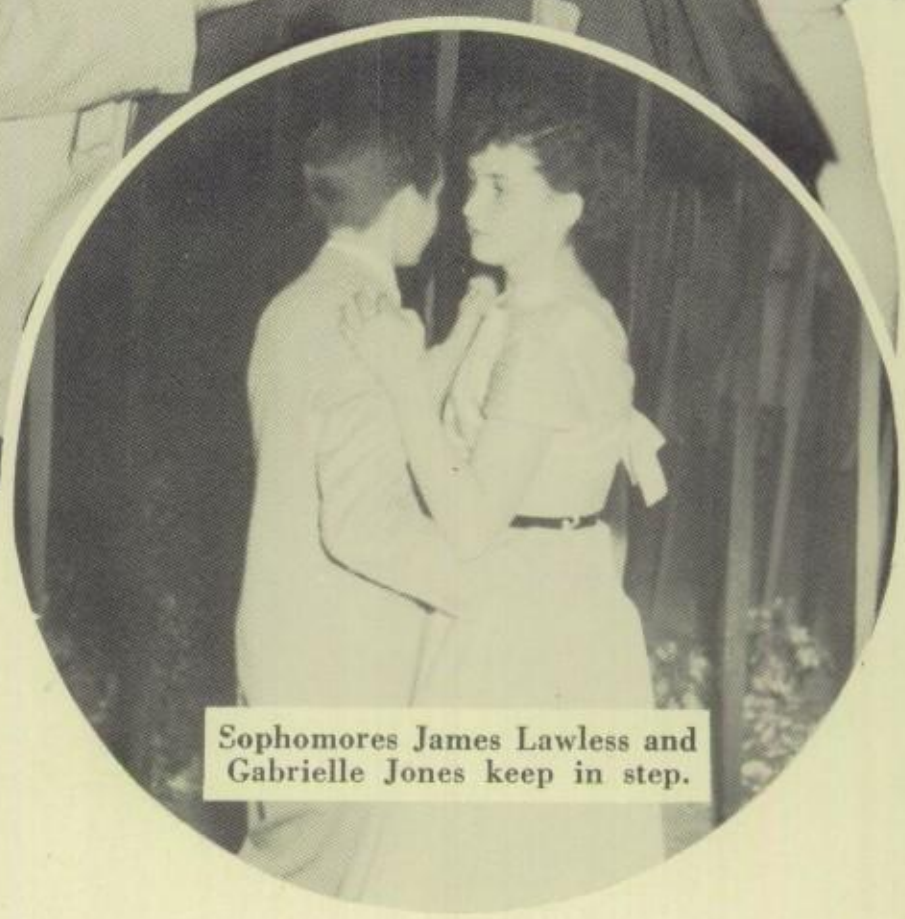
Some Senior Boys waiting outside glass doors to come to the Christmas Party.

Merrily, these carefree waltzers, whirl to "You'll Never Walk Alone."

"The Winners!" M.C., John Fischer, awards the Spot Dance prize.

Bewitched? John Fischer an Frances Cosgrove don't seem bit worried.





Sophomores James Lawless and Gabrielle Jones keep in step.

Del Richards Band—our favorite here at Q.P.

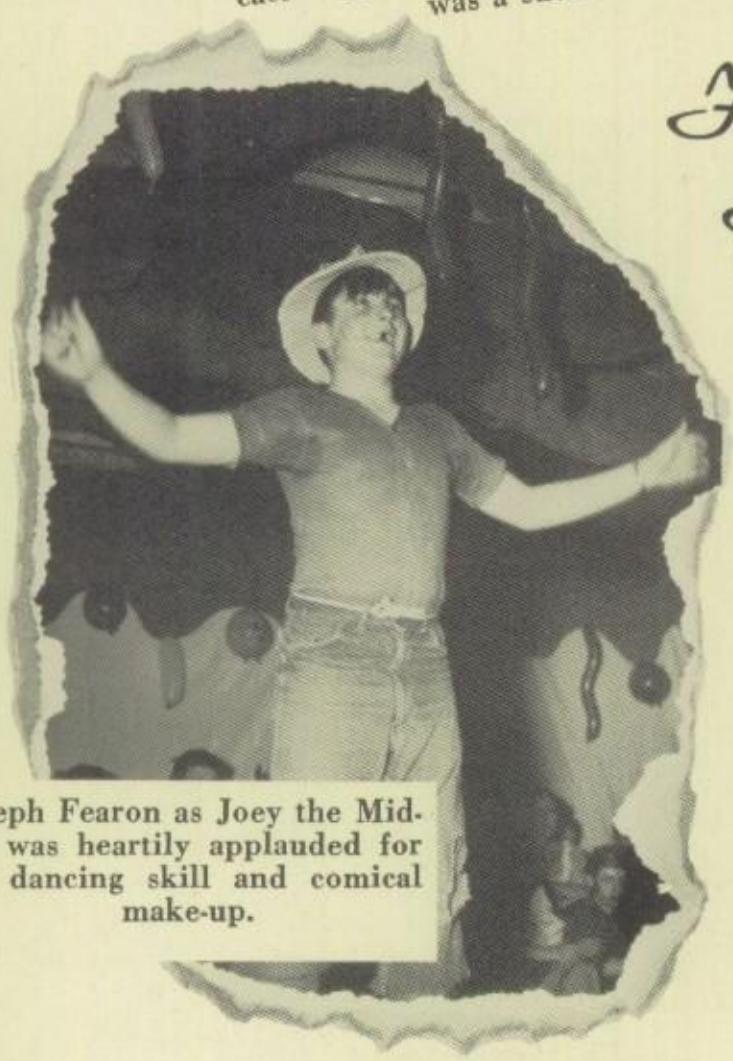
Light-footed and light hearted these dancers enter the "ballroom" for an evening of fun!

If the audience had half the fun the cast apparently had, the program was a success.

Gorilla, Joseph Hughes, leads Marylee Rowe, in a lively number.

Animal tamer, Robert Morrell, smiles as part of the circus menagerie displays skill.

Freshman - Sophomore Assembly



Joseph Fearon as Joey the Midget was heartily applauded for his dancing skill and comical make-up.

The Circus arrived at Q.P. on February 20, 1955 at 8:00 P.M. Peanuts and popcorn were distributed to the spectators by the vendors. The show opened with the all-time favorite song of the circus "Come to the Circus." Then the Ringmaster, John O'Neil, welcomed all to the show and introduced the acts in a humorous way.

Clowns lead by Lorranie Matthews, an acrobat, Music Makers, and Sh! Boom by the Roustabouts were all seen in the first ring during the show. Kiddie Kapers, Circus Menageries, the Circus Band, Trained Seals, and the Big Top Trio all were seen as well as heard in the outer rings. The side show with colorful costumes included every type. There were: the Bearded Lady, Atlas McFadden (the world's strongest man, and trainer) dancing gypsies who came from North Arlington, Belleville and Harrison and Mr. and Mrs. Thin Man. In the main ring, were a tight rope walker without a tight rope, men on the flying trapeze without the trapeze and Joey, the Midget.

The show came to an end with the chorus "Ta Rah Rah Boom De Ay" and then commendation was given by Monsignor on the enjoyable performance.

Congratulations were extended to all the Freshmen and Sophomores who took part in this show and helped to make it a wonderful success.

Because of the impossibility to mention all the names of all the performers this is a little tribute to the "Greatest Show On Earth."

Heavyweight champion, Francis Phillips, intrigues us with his powers.

Accordion talent is displayed by Robert Grados and Paul Nicholaus in the rendition of "Twelfth Street Rag" and "Beer-barrel Polka."

These Young Belles, Margaret Bohr, Lillian Burakevich, Jo Ann Turonis, Helen Goyboski, Vivian Madison, Mary Purpura, display their talent in rhythm.

"Precious, you were never lovelier," sighs John Baxter to John Pyne as they gracefully sway to the strains of the Anniversary Waltz.

Graceful Vivian Madison entertains us with a delightful ballet.

Our female clowns, Janet Carrino, Joan Ferguson, Mercedes Post, Marylee Rowe, Jeanie Mount, Marie Simon and Betty McDermott provide laughter and fun.

Song birds, Patricia Scollan, Barbara Vernovage, Jane Tortorello, Andrea Walsh and Mary Misacavage fill the air with "There's No Business Like Show Business."

This graceful lady, Marilee Romans, has no difficulty in stepping to the music.

"Happy Wanderers" Harland, Henneberry, Hart, Jennette, Bulger, Cherry, Cross.

The Ballerina Boys stole the show.

Things must be a little rough on top of "Old Smokey" judging by the plaintive looks and voices of hillbillies Wood, Wagner, Hallissey, Tekin, Verrier, and Pedersen.

A LETTER TO THE GRADUATING FOOTBALL PLAYERS

To write a review or summary of the past season in the space allotted would be unfair to the game and to the players because of its incompleteness.

To write of the many qualities derived from this fine game, both of physical and mental attributes or the process of blending many individuals to function as one, would be repetitious and scanty in its entirety.

Too seldom do we think of our laurels and play on the gridiron and I feel these cherished values should be more fully expressed. This will be a book of lifelong remembrances and I can best join you in remembering our association by recalling to mind some of the events that occurred throughout the season.

The individual contributions will bear their own fruit throughout your lives and probably without your awareness; but when you glance back into your high school days to reminisce, let not the unforgettables of your pigskin play be lost. To insure the enriching of these values I will cite some very stirring instances that are clear to me now . . .

Do you remember . . .

ED KIERNAN . . . how you cracked through the line at the Immaculate game and found your face in the kicker's foot, and then seconds later across the goal line for the winning touchdown?

DAVE NEWTON . . . how you watched the ball come down end over end for you to receive for just a routine runback, and how the blockers formed and the opponents disappeared until you found yourself 85 yards downfield for a score?

PAT MEAD . . . whatever possessed you to return to action, after a serious injury and still under doctor's care, to kick two crucial extra points to insure victory?

LOU MORRELL . . . how you excelled in leading the team to a gallant performance against a strong St. Peter's eleven?

I could go on with many more illustrations about many more fine players, but it is not always the feats of grandeur which bring out the fondest memories. It may be that unspectacular block or tackle, of which the spectator is unaware, but planted firmly in the heart of the individual. James Schaeffer should be well acquainted with this sort of play along with boys like Charles Kiel, Bob Platt, and John McAvenue.

In conclusion, I hope these illustrations will set off a chain reaction that may bring a chuckle to your heart, or a tear to your eye, and by all means a bit of happiness. I am confident that some of the many fine values of the game have become a physical or mental part of you as a result of your play at Queen of Peace. As I have often reminded you on the playing field, it is more important to practice good sportsmanship than to win or lose. This you all accomplished graciously, and I hope you will carry this lession with you as you leave here, and above all, I hope you had fun playing football.

Many thanks to you, our athletic director, Reverend Monsignor Peter B. O'Connor, our players, the boosters, the faculty, our inspiring cheerleaders, and those who came out and watched our games, for their fine cooperation, support, and spiritual guidance.

Sincerely yours,

Harry Zmijewski

GEORGE WIMMER

A valuable asset as a "Q. P." lineman who on account of illness had to withdraw early in the season.

PAT MEAD

Halfback. One of the best place kickers ever to wear a Q. P. uniform he played three years of varsity ball. Pat had a serious neck injury early in the season.

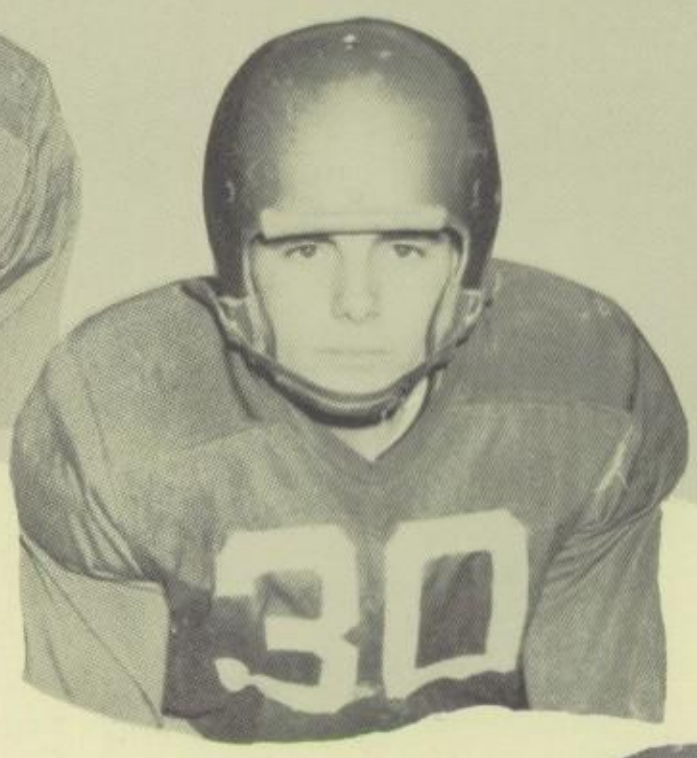
Co-Captains

Football

DAVID NEWTON

Fullback and co-captain. A valuable asset to the team. Small in stature but dynamic in spirit. Good linebacker on defense.



CHARLES KIEL

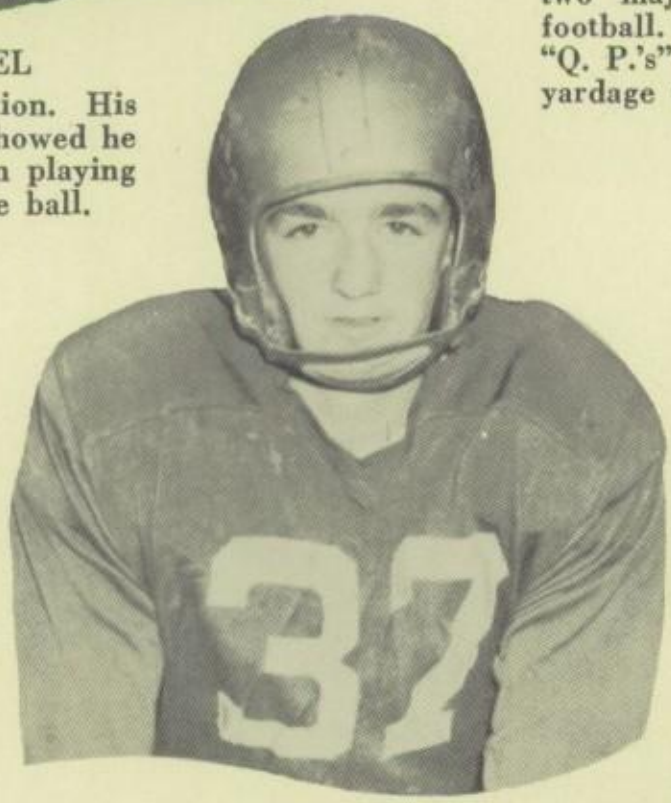
End. Versatile in action. His first year of football showed he was varsity material in playing offensive and defensive ball.

JAMES SCHAEFFER

Tackle. Spirited lineman with two major letters in Varsity football. All-county selection. "Q. P.'s" bulldozen when extra yardage was needed.

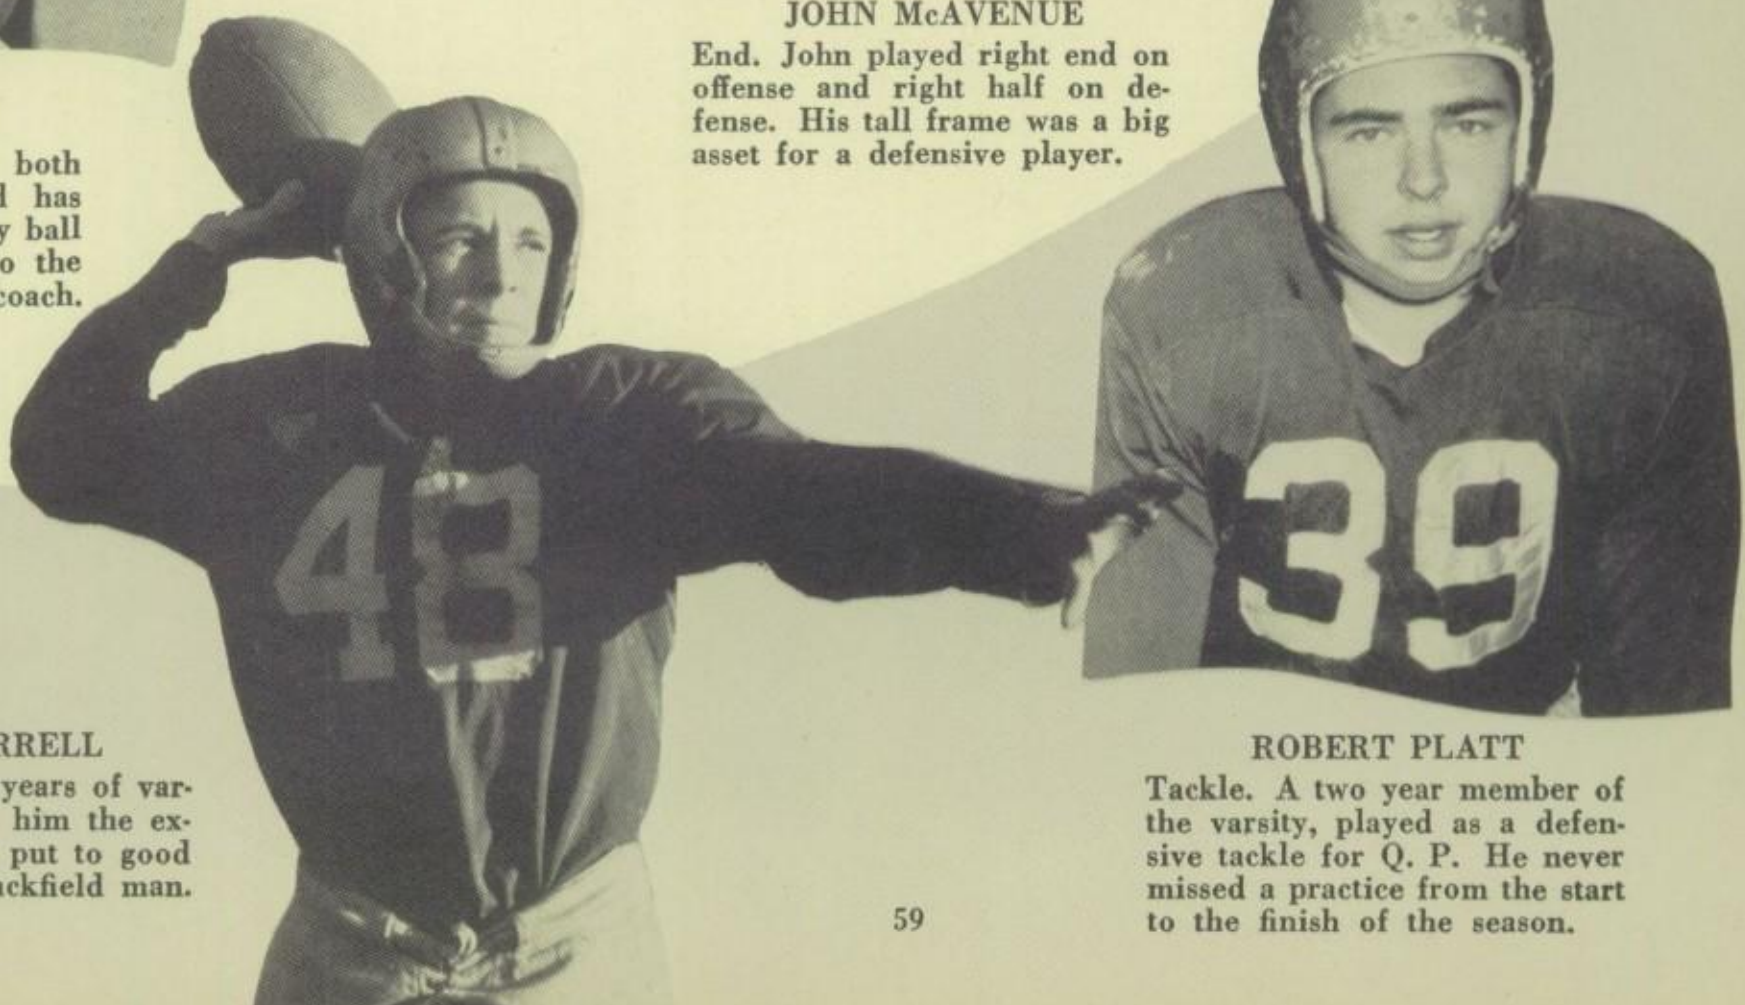
ED KIERNAN

ptain and guard on both se and offense. Ed has d two years of varsity ball vill be a big loss to the latoons used by the coach.



JOHN McAVENUE

End. John played right end on offense and right half on defense. His tall frame was a big asset for a defensive player.



LEWIS MORRELL

Quarterback. Two years of varsity ball has given him the experience which he put to good use this year as backfield man.

ROBERT PLATT

Tackle. A two year member of the varsity, played as a defensive tackle for Q. P. He never missed a practice from the start to the finish of the season.

O'Loughlin gains yardage.

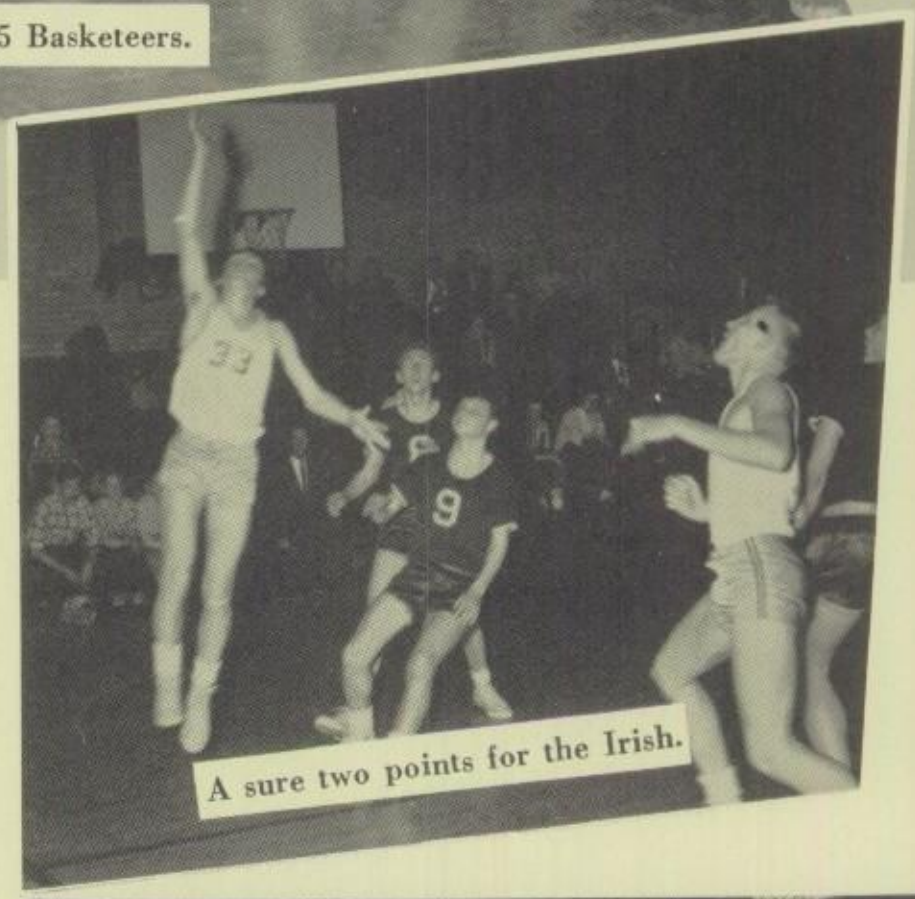
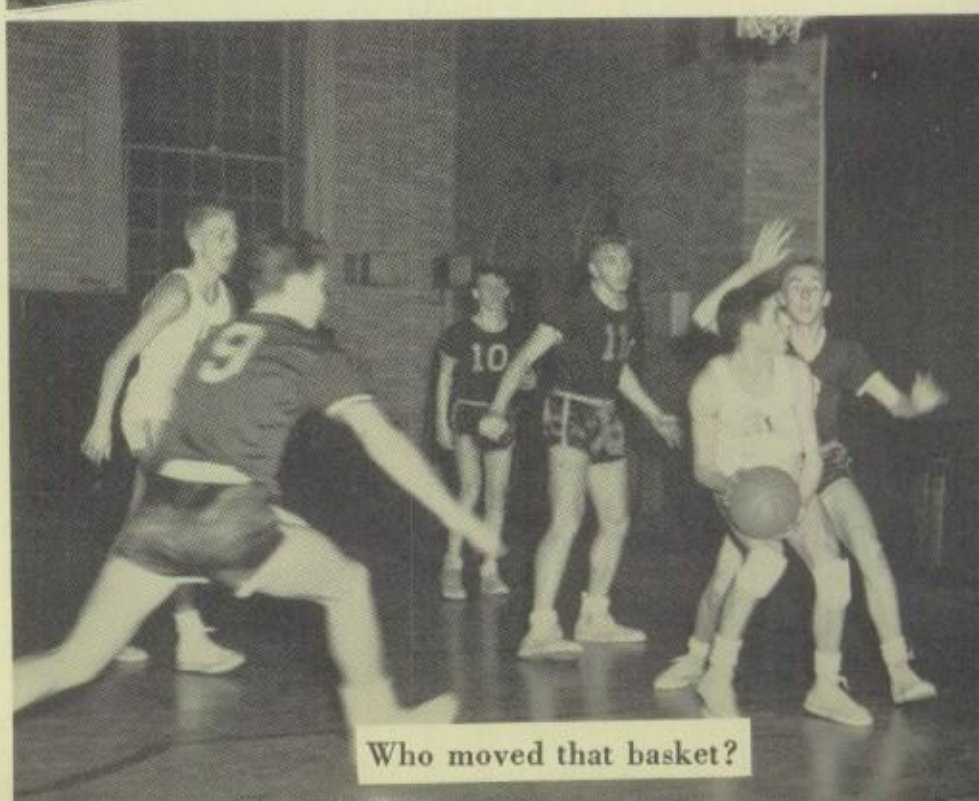
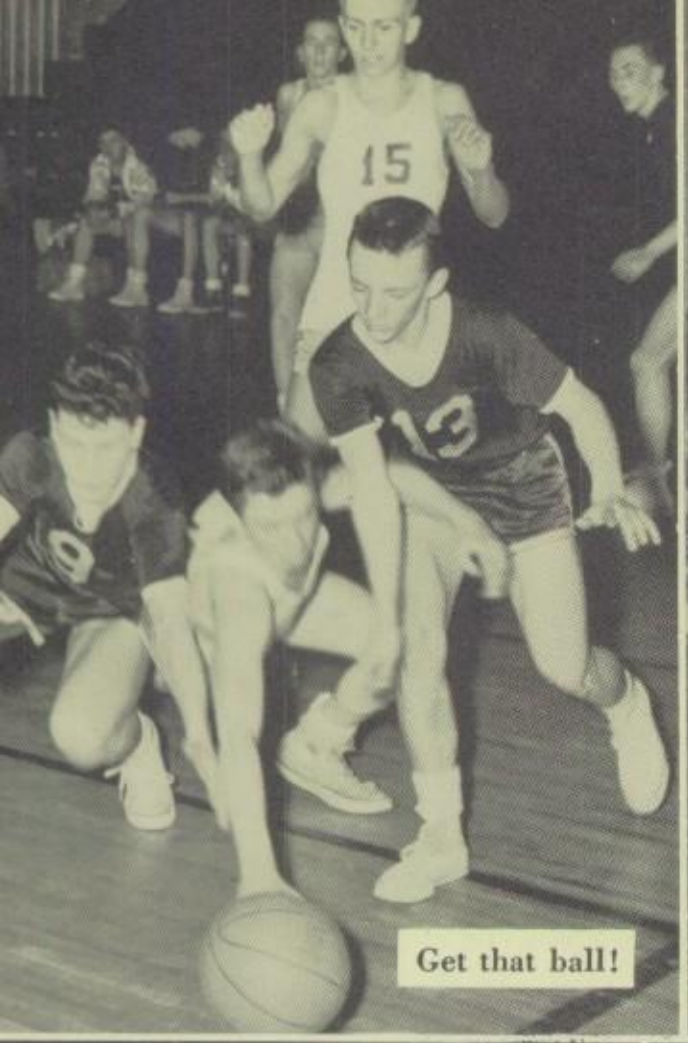
A fight to the finish.



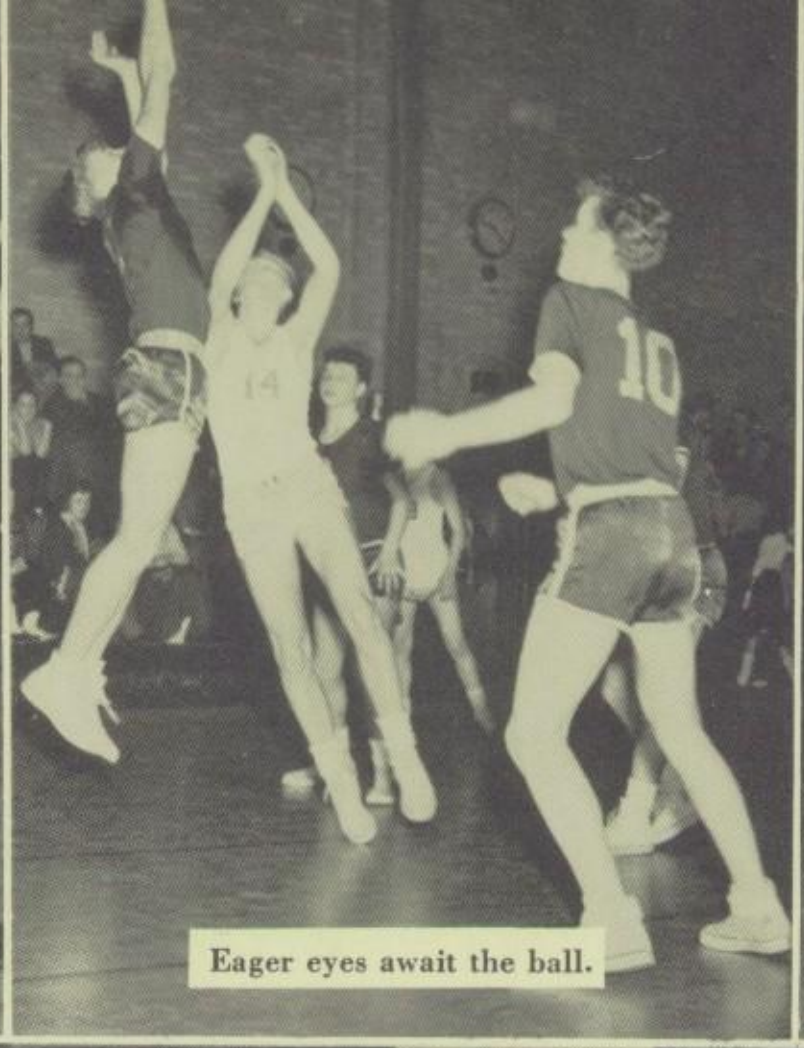
A sure two points for the Irish.



Who moved that basket?



Get that ball!



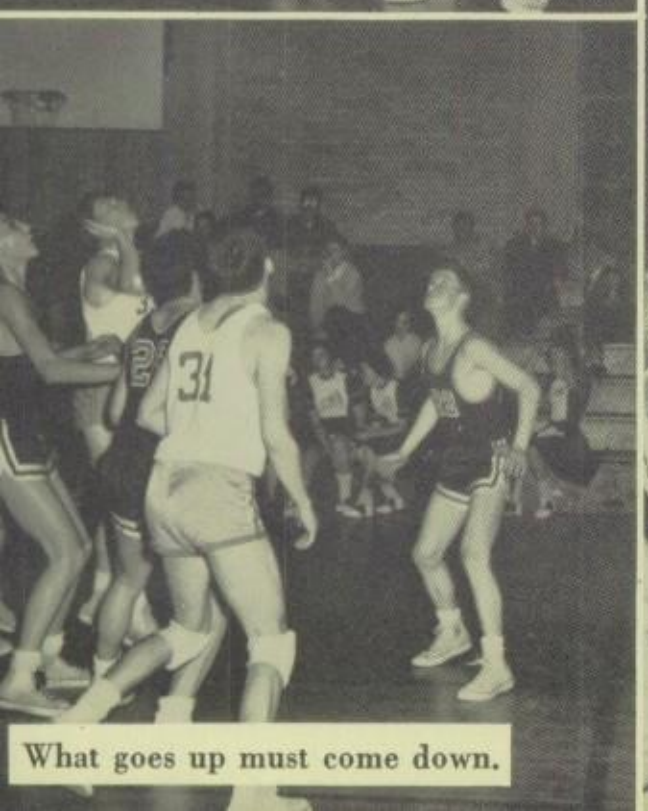
Eager eyes await the ball.

It's a long drive to the basket.

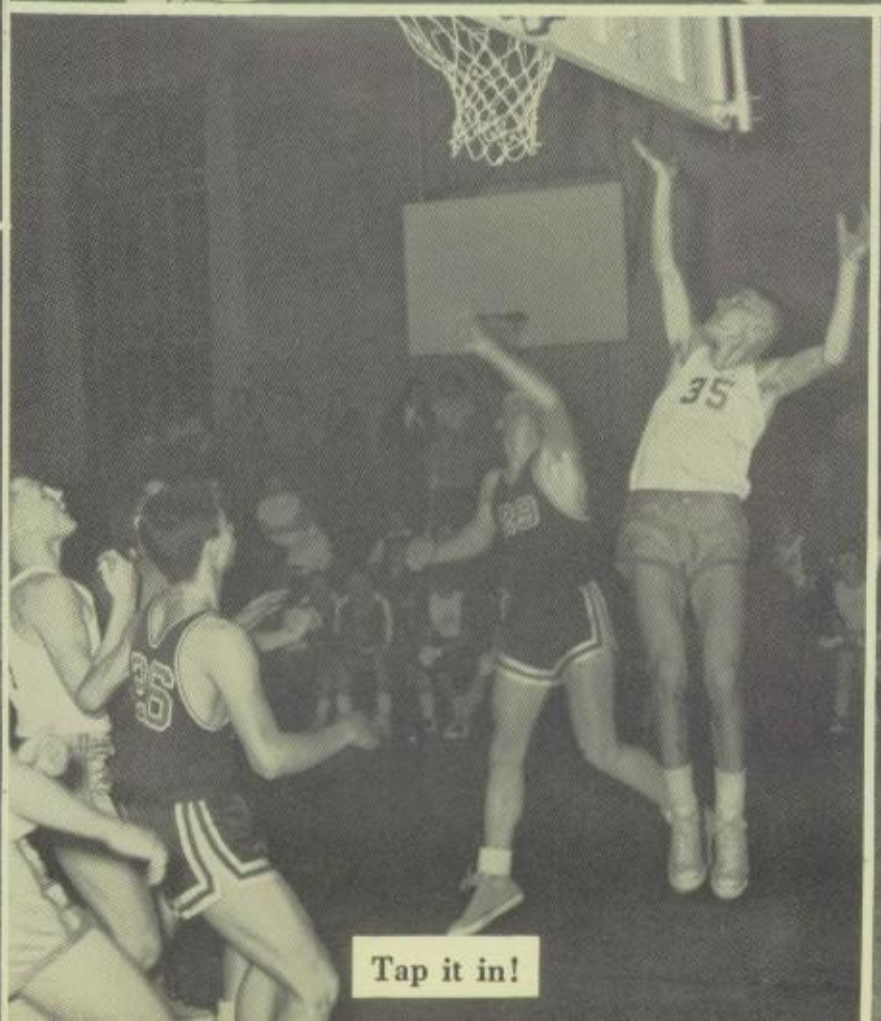
Sure shot Morrell does it again.

Kiel stretches for the ball.

St. Al's can't stop "Q. P."



What goes up must come down.



Tap it in!

"Jump, Freddie, jump . . ."

"Champs"—That's it, Seniors!

It's a jump ball! Is it the Juniors' or Seniors'?

"Freshies"—you're a wonderful team!

Cheerleaders

How happy can cheerleaders look after victory?

We hear their gentle voices calling . . .
"T - E - A - M, Yeah Team!"

"MERRY MASCOT"

Mary Jane Verrier, of the Class of '69, for the past two football seasons has been the cheerleaders' mascot. Her cheering attire and tiny figure certainly added a tinge of amusement to the fans of Q. P.

Their enthusiasm and great school spirit showed itself in all their cheering!

Front Row: Adrien Thees, Mary Lou Clifton, and Mary Lou Russell. Back Row: Hattie Davey, Patty Frotten, Carol Lindeman, Joan Verrier, Fran Cosgrove, Barbara O'Grady, and Laura Babinski.

The expressions of the Senior Cheerleaders could never portray all the wonderful memories this year has held for them.

Our Captain peps us up before the opening game.

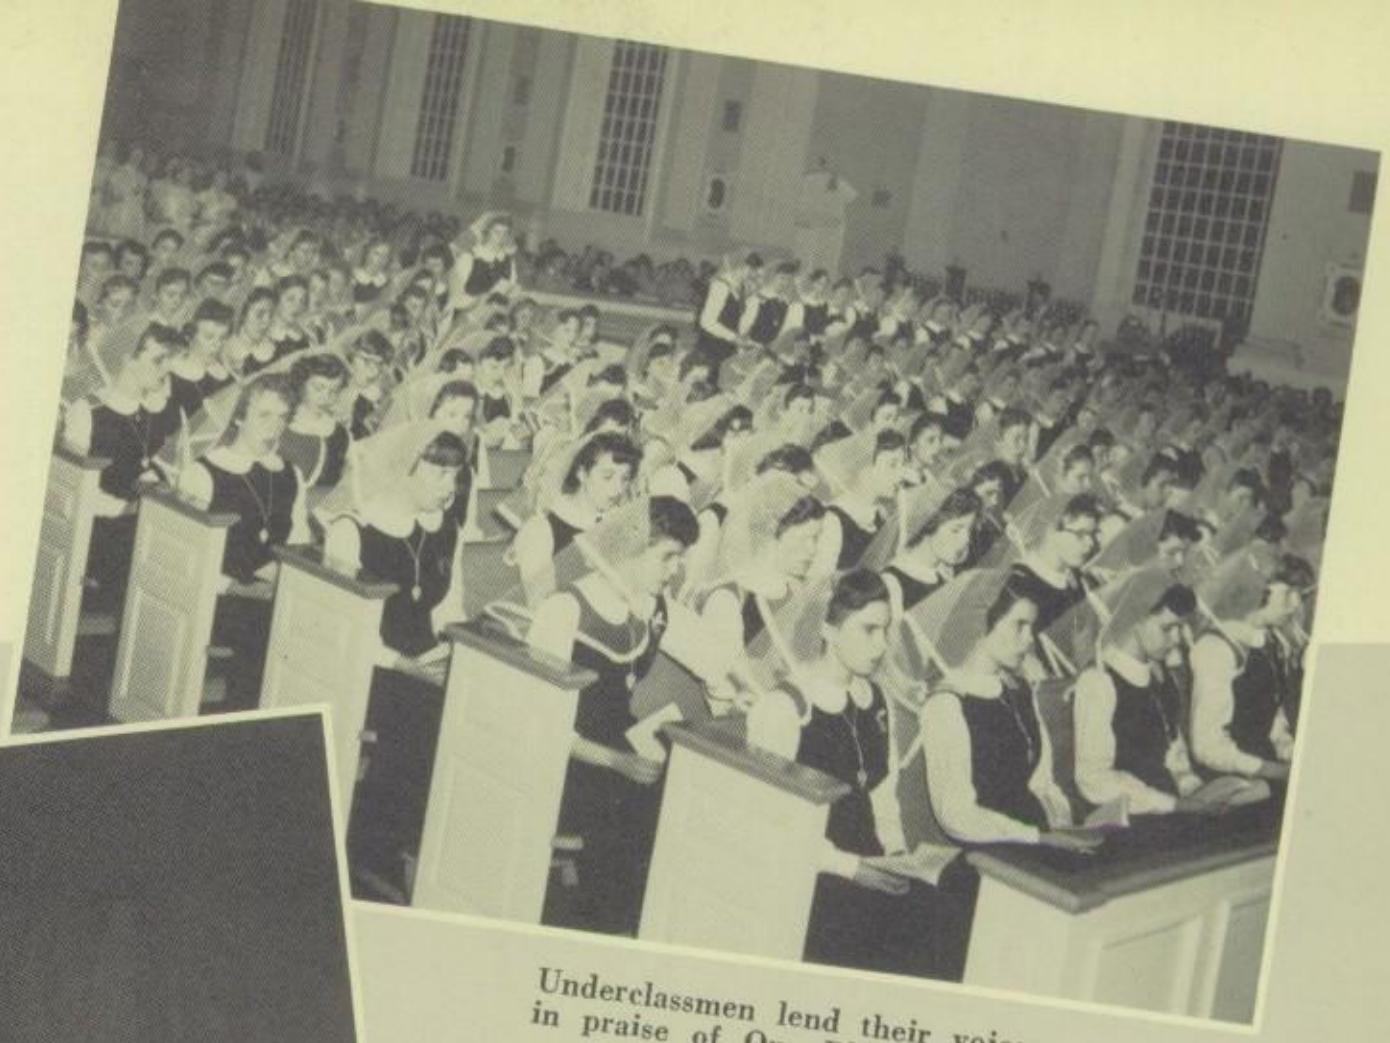
May

Hail Holy Queen enthroned above. O Maria!

Seniors form the rosary before reciting their Act of Consecration.

O Mary, we crown thee with jewels today,
Queen of the rosary, Queen of the May.

Procession

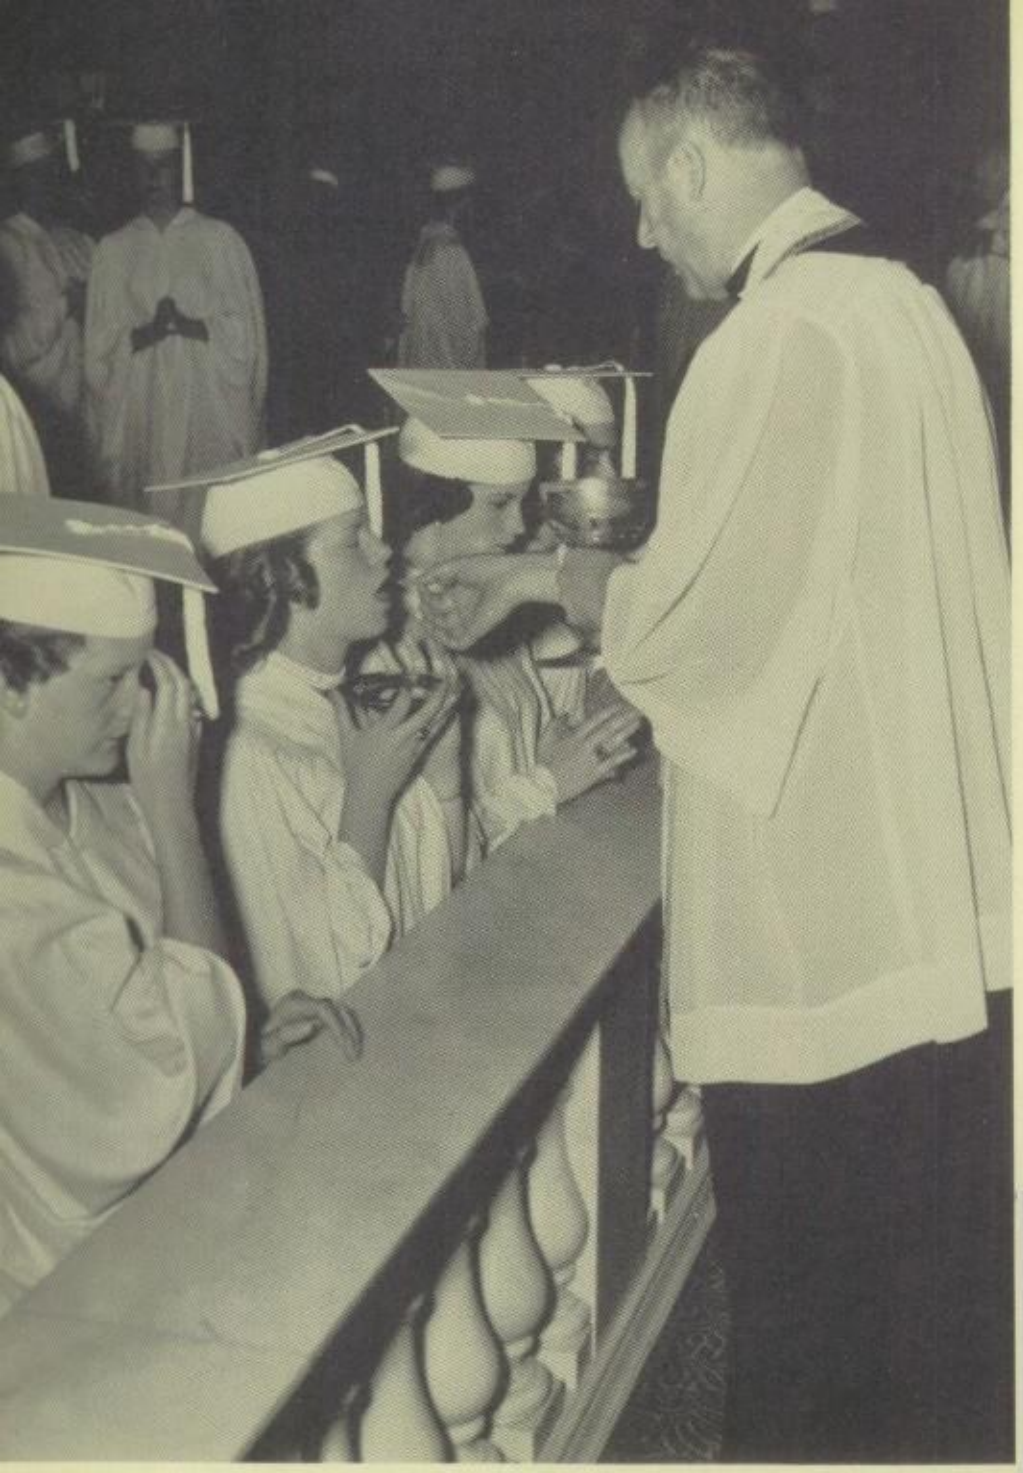


Underclassmen lend their voices in praise of Our Blessed Lady.

Crown-bearer, lovely Jean Napatano and her flower girls Catherine Kelly and Elizabeth McPherson are truly the privileged ones tonight.

May 21, 1954

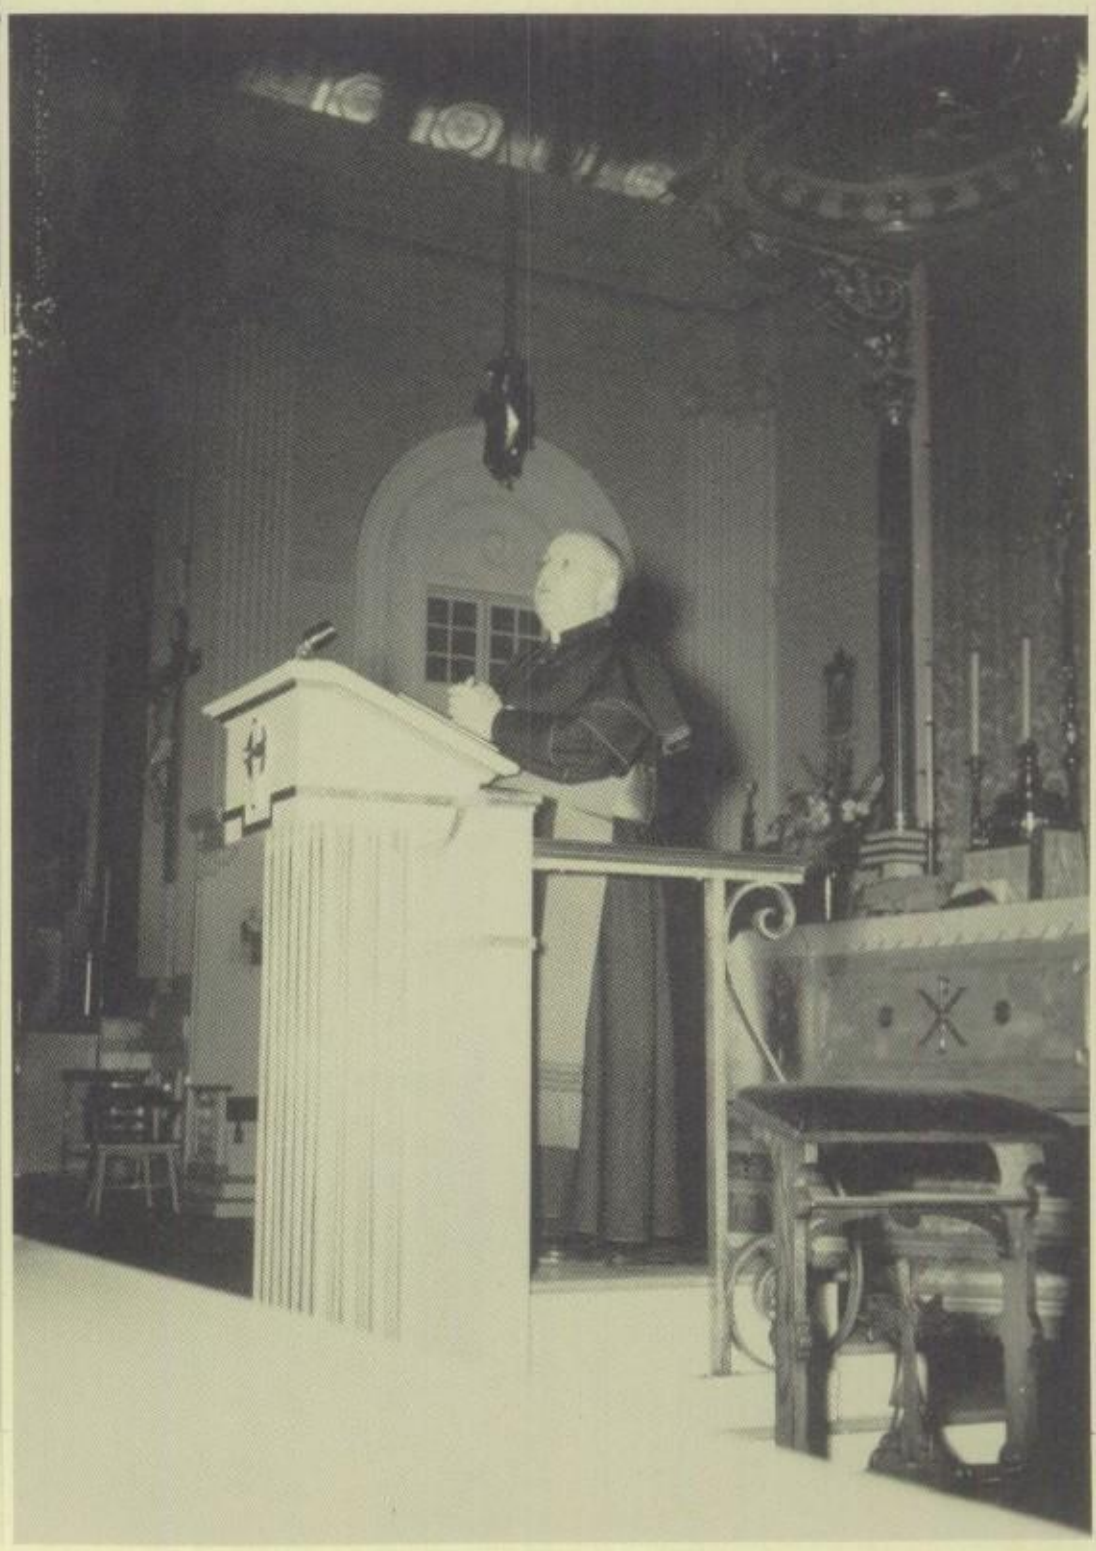
Gail Cavanaugh, Roberta Scott, Mary Rose Barton, Regina Lynskey, Elizabeth Mess, and Arlene McDonald reverently sing out the beautiful strains of "Lady of Fatima."



Reception of Holy Communion this day becomes a blessed memory.

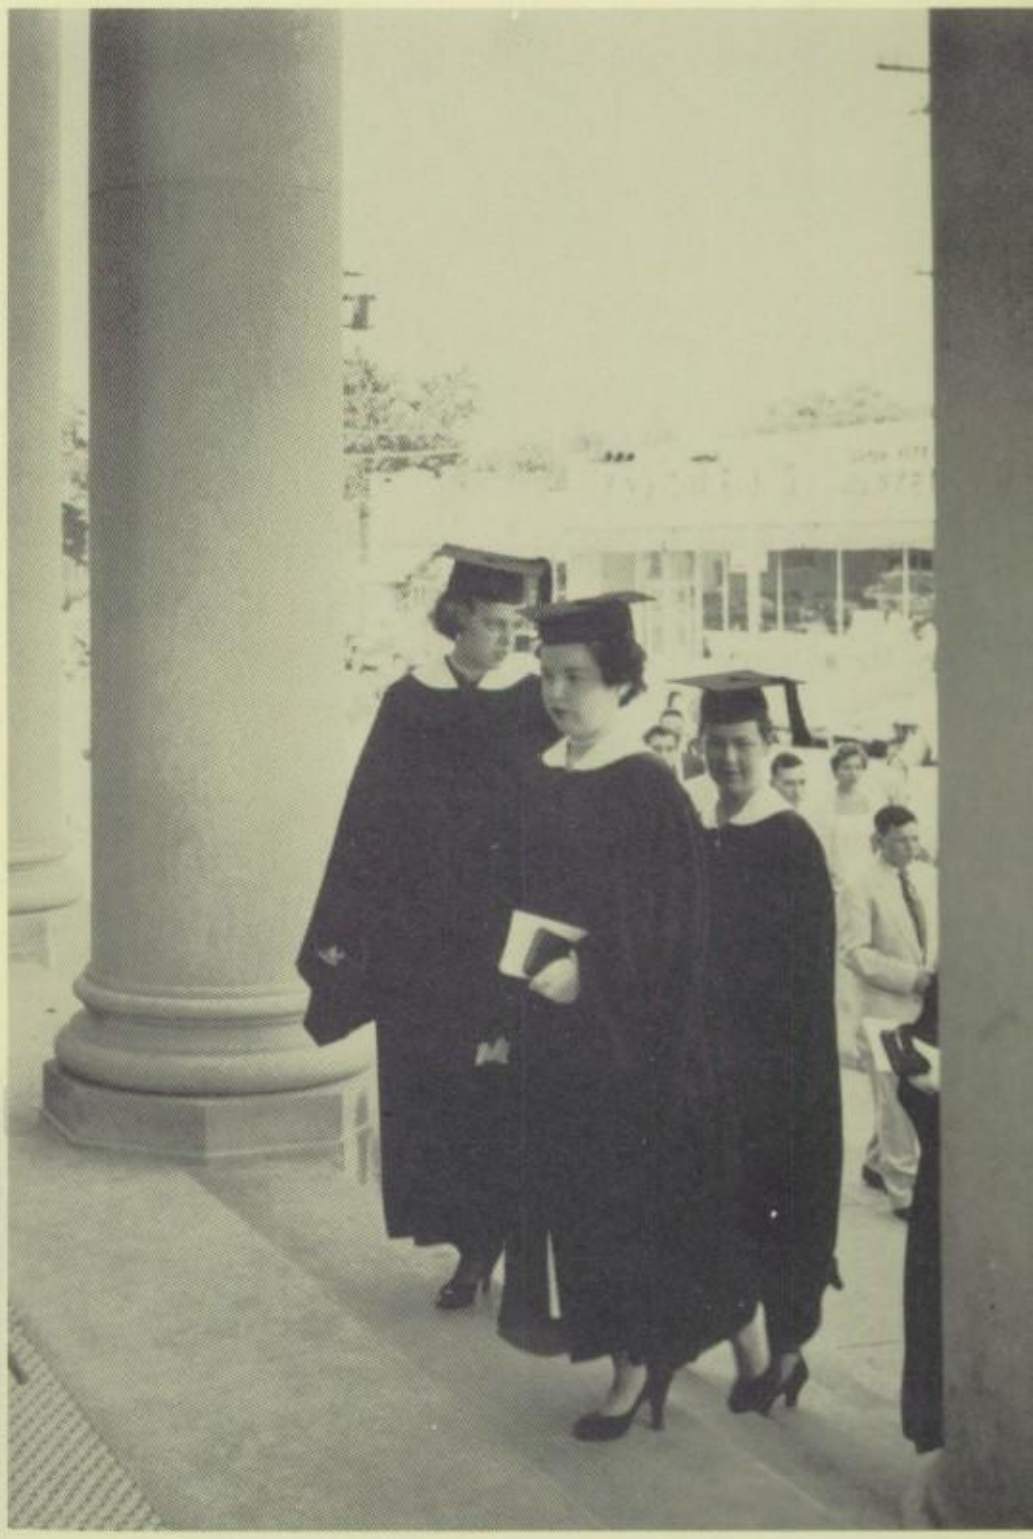
Baccalaureate Mass

Sunday, June 20, 1954

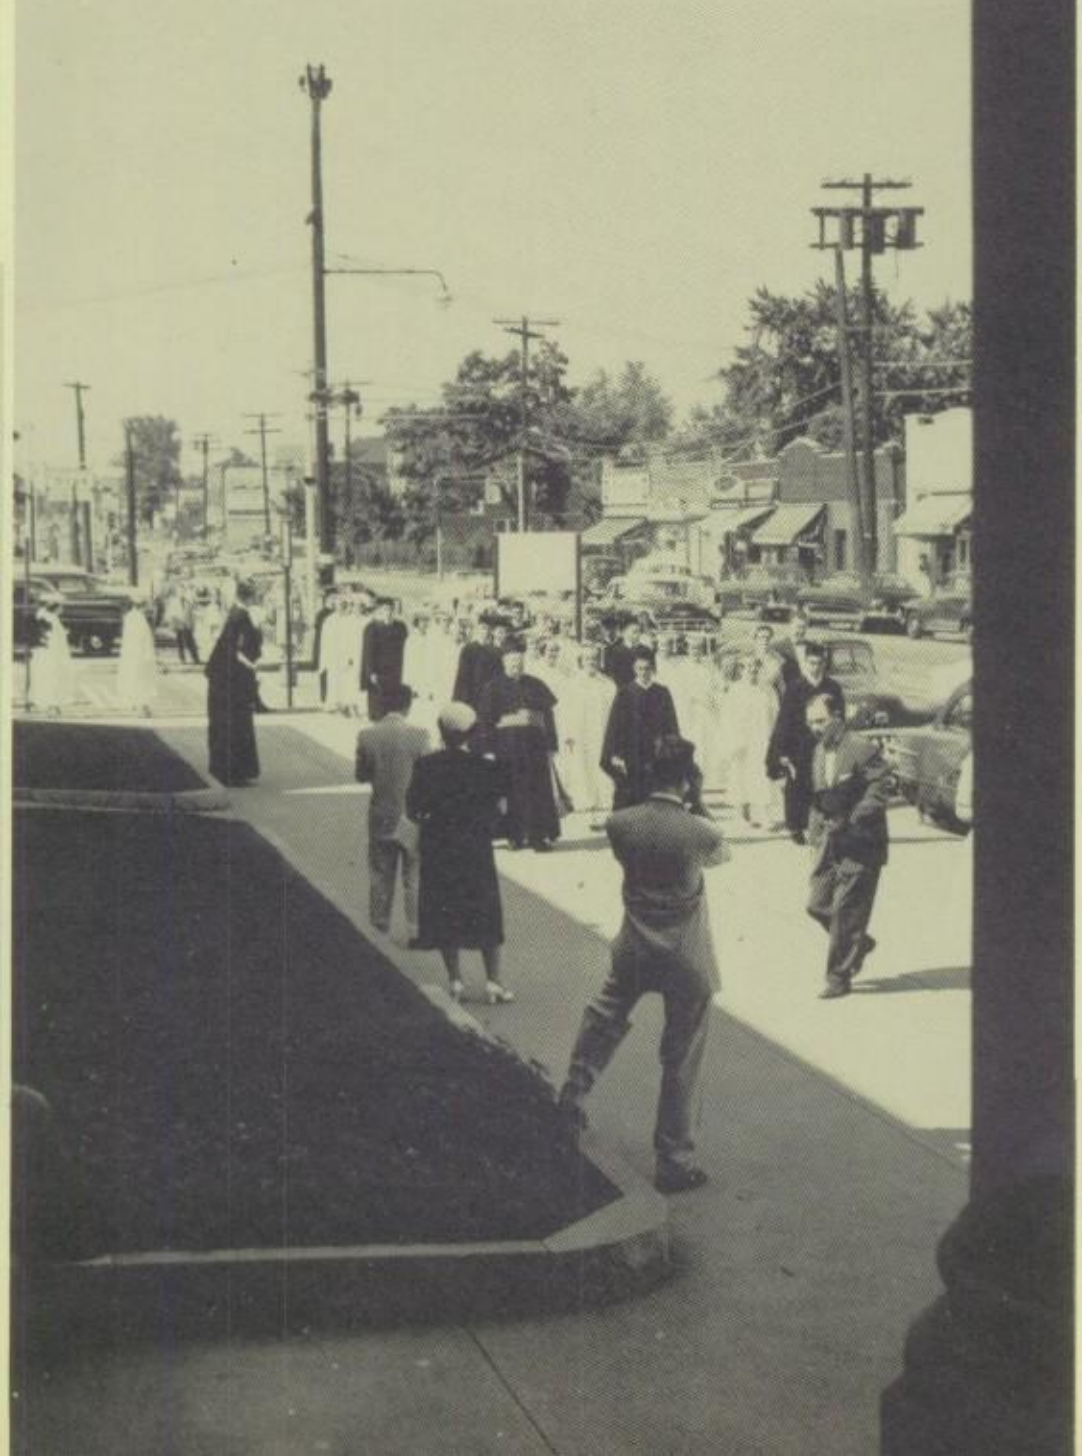


In his sermon, Monsignor impresses the graduates with the importance of living a truly Christian life.

Surely, cross bearer Joseph Brady and flag bearers James Costello and Donald Kieffer were privileged leaders.



Alumni members: Jane Callahan, Eileen Conlon and Kathryn Lynskey are "firsts" in Baccalaureate Procession.



Fond parents succeed in taking a few candid shots.

James Costello speaks on the virtue "Prudence".

Mary Rose Barton talks on the subject of "Temperance".

Twenty-first Commencement

Queen of Peace High School

North Arlington, New Jersey

We could not leave the subject of Fortitude without mentioning our Saints—the heroes and heroines of our Divine and Catholic Faith. It has been well said that he who conquers himself is greater than those who win even just wars. Courage of fortitude is a virtue which may even penetrate men's inner consciousness and there recognize the incipient temptation and so to speak to defeat it before it can damage the image of God in which man has been created. To pin the medal of heroism on one who has done a noble, courageous act according to the standards of the world and then to pass over in forgetfulness those who fought the good fight and who have kept the Faith amid the temptations of this world would be unreasonable.

To fail to appreciate the heroic sanctity of those who have been canonized would be to have a blind spot on the greatest courage that we mere humans have ever achieved. This courage or fortitude adorns those who have fought successfully the world, the flesh and the devil. (Selection from address on "Fortitude".)
